President's Report

Kevin Hooper

We are fast approaching the ARBA Convention in Texas, which may be over prior to this issue. I want to thank those of you who made a last minute donation to the show. We normally fund the awards from the $500 contribution of the ADRC, members donations and the "Pass the hat" collection form the previous convention. The "Pass the hat" normally collects around $300-$400. Due to an oversight, this was not done at the convention last year, so we sent the letter this year. It is also difficult when we have no one in the area where the Convention is held who heads up the show.

We are also running behind on the publication of the DR Will will be a little behind on this issue, and will be back on schedule for the last issue of '06. The last issue said it was the July/Aug/Sept issue. It was actually the March/April/May issue, so you did not miss one.

Speaking of missing one, if by chance you did not get the last issue, there were a few who did not receive theirs, so if you did not get the one with the two Best Dutch winners on the cover, let our new Secretary, Barb Kline know, and she will drop one in the mail to you.

Speaking of new Secretaries, there was a label on the back cover of the last issue notifying everyone that we have a new Secretary/Treasurer. Barb Kline of Ohio has taken over the position. Barb is very timely and if you have something that you need, she will respond promptly. Also, if you had sent something to our past Secretary, Briony Barnes, and you did not receive any reply by now, let Barb know. All materials were transferred to Barb, and she will have everything processed by now. So, once again, if something was sent, and you have heard nothing, it was most likely lost in the transition, and you need to contact Barb.

You will also see that the Sweepstakes is catching up as well. Please note, when Valerie sends the reports to our editor, Dick Gehr, and they are published in the DR, those would have been for reports RECEIVED BY If you have more shows than are being listed on the standings, the first step is to look through the show reports to see which show has not been reported that you had attended. The second step would be to contact that SHOW SECRETARY to find out if the reports were sent. Then, if the report was sent, send Valerie an email asking if the report was received. With both our Secretary, Sanction Chair (Jill Pfaff) and Sweepstakes Chair all using the same program, it will be easy to track show reports which are missing. Also, the Sweepstakes computer program is functioning as it should now! We have cross checked the reports that were sent to all members in late September, and they are accurate. Now, as long as the reports are received, they will be processed and you will find few errors. We will also have a monthly membership update sent to the Sweepstakes chair. This has not been done in the past, but will now be done.

I hope you enjoyed the last issue of the DR! We had several new contributors of articles that made for a very good issue. I hope to see more of this! Many thanks to Julie Hume, Dan Schwandt, and Theresa Kortbein! All were very nice contributions! This is the type of article we are looking for, so write something for our next DR. It could be as simple as something you have been wondering about when breeding the Dutch, or feeding, or culling, or............. The sky is the limit (as long as it is about rabbits).

As always, let us know what ideas you may have. We are here to serve the membership, so let us know how we can better serve you!

Yours in Dutch

Vice-President's Report

Sue Hill

The entries for ARBA are now due and it will be very interesting to see what parts of the country are represented by Dutch breeders when the end of October rolls around. Several from the east coast have already said they will have to pass on the festivities that the Texas group is planning because of the distance to the show itself. The weather, though, should be fantastic as long as Mother Nature cooperates. It should be in the 60-70 degree range for that time of year. This will make it great for traveling for both the animals and the exhibitors. It should be a fun show to attend!

So just what goes into preparing animals for showing for Nationals, or any show for that matter? Is it a special conditioner that brings an animal into prime shape? Is it the feed? Is it just the time of year that it happens to be? Or is it the timing of the breeding? Perhaps it's not just one factor but the sum of many that come together to make that winner look so slick.

Take the conditioner, for instance. If we look at what is readily available to most of us at the shows through feed vendors and supply companies, we will find a few mixes that include various grains (wheat, barley, rolled steamed oats, etc) that target firming flesh, adding sheen to the coat, and promoting good growth for the younger rabbit. Some have such small seed such as flaxseed that it presents a challenge to those of us with Jfeeders. Much of it may end up on the ground as it settles to the bottom of the feeder and eventually slides through the mesh bottom. Even if the breeder has dishes or crocks for feeding, the rabbits may decide to eat the frosting before the cake, and expensive feed can lay scattered below the cages from the rabbits digging to get at the goodies.

Some companies produce conditioners in a pelleted form that matches the size of rabbit feed. It certainly is easy to dispense and doesn't settle like fine seed does, but may still be enjoyed so much by the furry ones that the regular pellets go flying to the ground. Sort of like eating the fruit and leaving the broccoli on the plate...

Most breeders using a condition have developed their own timetable for using it, and start a rabbit on it either while still with the mother or after they are separated out. I personally like to start my litters on the conditioner I use so that when I separate out the babies, I can coax them to continue to eat after going through the big transition of being on their own. Others breeders have said they wait until the rabbit is atleast three months old before introducing conditioners because they feel it is too "hot" for a younger animal. Regardless of the philosophy, the general rule for the most part is giving it in moderation. It is not supposed to be used as a significant part of the diet, but rather, a top dressing. Some conditioners include a mini measuring spoon to make it easier to dispense in the suggested quantity.

Feed certainly plays a significant part of the general health of the rabbit. When we look at the label on the feed, the percent of protein may range from 14-19% depending on the feed company. The 16-18% seems to be the most widely used percentage according to many people showing Dutch. Several breeders that have been successful over the years insist on not changing a particular routine any time during the prime show season because of the changes they have noticed in coat and flesh as the animal transitions to new feed. If a feed is going to be changed, doing it after a convention is what they recommend.

When going to a Nationals, regardless of it being an NDS or an ARBA show, the animals seem to do best with staying on their own feed from their own barn.

Warren Wiltman and I noticed this when we traveled to Rhode Island a couple years back. We brought our own bag of feed but ran short the last full day of the show. Since our feed was one of the ones that was going to be available at the show anyways, we didn't think anything of it and dug into the bags sitting around at the end of the aisles for our use. The rabbits on the other hand, were not thrilled and just about every one of our animals went off feed immediately. It was the same brand of feed but was made in a totally different part of the country, meaning the protein and fiber content may well have been slightly different in the formula makeup. To lessen this from happening to you, having enough feed from home will keep the rabbits under less stress and eating well during the show.

I have to mention Fred and Kathy Mullinax, though, from North Carolina. They are great supporters of the Dutch club and have had entries in as many Nationals as they could. Since they live a distance from where most conventions are held, they are forced to fly their animals to the site. Sometimes the rabbits go sans their owners. Because Mullinax's obviously cannot check in a bag of feed on the plane, they are at the mercy of the sponsoring club to have a feed their rabbits will eat. What is interesting is that their animals are quite adaptable and come through the experience with little trouble, regardless of what is put in front of them in their feed cups. Perhaps they have an "adapting" gene in there herd!

Of course, the time of the year is always a factor in how a rabbit looks. Breeders have long commented on how drastic shifts in weather patterns sends their herd into a furry mess. If it is humid in the barn, fur becomes sticky and can matt easily. If there is an extremely hot summer, the animals seem to moult continuously and have trouble finishing out.

And then there is the timing aspect. The juniors that are shown have to have that prime time to develop a coat. When I breed for conventions, I try to have the does kindle just over four months before the show dates. This seems to give them adequate time to get through the baby fuzzy stuff and have that first really slick coat on board. Their flesh is fairly well filled out and they are competitive in a large class of junior Dutch. They have gotten through the trauma of being separated from the mom and the siblings and are eating well. Above all, they are strong enough to go through the stressors place on them while traveling hours upon hours to a show, and then staying for days in a new pen with new sounds and smells around them. Seniors prove to be more challenging because many times, the moulting does not seem to follow any given time frame. This is when the bigger breeders have the advantage with being able to pick from a larger number of rabbits to show.

There are many external factors that go into producing a winning Dutch rabbit. When we add on the genetics aspect and all that goes into play there, it is truly amazing to see all the quality animals nestled under one convention roof. Anyone that has the opportunity to go to Texas this year, or any convention being put on must appreciate what it took to make it possible for each animal to be entered in the show. Raising Dutch is quite a challenge!

We are always looking for ideas to write about in the DR. Several other breed clubs devote issues to particular varieties and assign a person to contact members that have consistently placed in the top ten at conventions. They are asked to write something on that variety and how they work on getting the good ones. Is there any interest in our club doing that as well? Of course, some clubs have 30+ varieties to cover and we have only six, but we can always use it as a starting point. I was talking to Melody Stremkowski and we thought it would be interesting to have members vote on the rabbit they think is the best colored Gray, Tort, or Steel surface color from the outside of the pen during one of the conventions.

Remember to check the Dutch Booth Board for any announcements several times daily. We will have information on the breakfast, the wine and cheese party, and any other event planned. If there is a message you want to get to another breeder, there will be a spot on the board to put a note for them. We are going to refine the sellers class and have a binder at the Dutch table to put the pedigrees in of animals being auctioned off ahead of time. The animal's pen will be tagged so that buyers will be aware of what is going in the sale ahead of time. Exhibitors will have until a specified time to enter an animal in the sale and then the sale will be closed. The intent is to stress the quaility verses quantity of animals being offered to buyers. What we want to get away from is having people enter animals they were not able to sell earlier on in the show and having several subsequently go as no sales.

Finally, we found out today we recently lost a dear lady in the Dutch world. Ruth Wireman, the bride of Jack Wireman for 61 years, pass away this last week. She was a lovely person and could be found enjoying the shows along side of her husband. Ruth had a wry sense of humor and would share some memories of when Jack was really hot in the showing world. Even though the Wireman's no longer showed Dutch, they were staunch supporters and loved to be around the people whenever they could. Those of us that had the good fortune of getting a hug from Ruth will miss her presence and kind heart at the coming conventions.

Best of luck to all those lucky enough to attend the convention this year. May those of you not able to go still have great bunnies winning at the local shows during that time. And please remember that you have directors and officers that you can contact about special wins and awards so we can mention you in our articles. We want to continue to make this club one you are happy to be a part of and are striving hard to push the Dutch club in a direction that all can benefit from!

Yours in Dutch

Editor's Note:

The last issue of the Dutch Reporter was actually the April/May/June issue, as mentioned in Kevin's President's Report.

I inadvertently labeled the cover as being for
July/August/September (Maybe my inner mind was hoping I was caught up!)
Thus you did not miss an issue of the Dutch reporter.
[You are now in the possession of a collector's item, so don't lose it!]

We are making attempts to get things caught up regarding the deadline and publishing dates of the Dutch Reporter.

Please try to have your articles to me for the next DR as close to November 11th as you can.

Thanks, and please contact me if you have ANY questions or concerns regarding the Dutch Reporter magazine.

Sectrtary-Treasurer Report

Barb Kline

Hi my name is Barb Kline and I am your newly appointed Secretary/Treasurer. I am from Ohio and my family has been raising and showing Dutch rabbits for the past 9 years. I have been the Secretary/Treasurer of the Ohio State Dutch Rabbit Club for the past 3 years. My background in accounting is extensive. I have been in field for the past 26 years in many different facets. I have been trained in payroll, tax preparation, auditing, financial reporting, etc. I currently work part time at a nursing home doing payroll.

My plans for the ADRC are to produce monthly financial reports to the officers and directors and quarterly financial reports to the membership to be printed in the Dutch Reporter. These reports will be accurate and very detailed. I also plan on sending notices regarding membership expirations to all members.

Currently I am printing out membership cards and updating memberships that were renewed since April, 2006 but no cards were ever sent. If you are one of those members and have not received a card from me by October, please contact me and let me know. Jill Pfaff and I are trying to open a separate account for the sanction fees so that checks are not being sent back and forth in the mail I will maintain internal control of this account so that no financial responsibility will be put on Jill. I am going to invest some of the ADRC funds in several certificates of deposits maturing at various intervals so the club's funds make the most that they can but can be easily accessible.

I am working on a membership list that will include member's phone number and email addresses. This will allow the membership easy access to contact members when they may be in their part of the country. I am asking the membership to please contact me with your current address, phone number and email address. I would also like members' birthdates so that birthday greetings can be sent to them. This will also aid in letting me know when youth memberships need to be changed to open memberships.

As you can tell I have lots of ideas and I have been very busy cleaning things up. I have purchased a printer/scanner/copier/fax which I will be taking to the conventions and nationals to be used for the membership. I have all the 2005 sweepstakes awards and variety plates on order and I will ship them out as soon as I receive them. I also have the Sellers' Class trophies on order from the 2005 Convention, 2006 National Dutch show, 2006 Convention and the future 2007 Convention and National Dutch show.

I am your Secretary/Treasurer and I am here to serve you, so if you ever have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me. I will not be able to attend this year's convention in Texas but I will be sending information with Sue Hill and she will be taking the minutes for me. I am very proud that the board has chosen me and I promise to do the best job that I am capable of.

Director's Report District One Rick Billups

Summer is quickly winding down and I hope each of you enjoyed a safe summer. This summer has seen a few changes with the ADRC, one of which is the transition of the Secretary-Treasure office. Barb Kline accepted the position of Secretary-Treasure in July and is currently working on getting everything organized. Barb is currently the Secretary-Treasure for the Ohio State Dutch Rabbit Club and has proven herself to be very organized and diligent in her position.

I received my Dutch reporter at the end of July and was very pleased with the quality of the DR. Dick did a great job with his first issue! I also want to mention the addition of two new columns, "Ask the Judge" and "Ask the Breeder". These columns are the brainchild of Julie Hume of Michigan. Feel free to email any of your questions to Julie at odie@cable-speed.com.

Congratulations to the Kline Family on there win at the Ohio State Fair in August. Megan won BOB with a Black Dutch Jr. Doe on Saturday and then Barb and Denny won BOB on Sunday with a Black Sr. Doe. The Kline's also won 1St place with their meat pen on both days. BOS on Saturday went to Cody and Danny Lape. The Ohio State fair always brings back memories of years gone by. I purchased my first pair of mismarked Black and Chocolate Dutch from Andy Barton at the 1977 Ohio State Fair.

I won't be attending this years ARBA Convention due to the distance but I wish everyone the best of luck.

Director's Report District Two Dick Gehr

It is time for the ARBA grand event of the year, the National Convention and Show. I was scheduled to judge Open Dutch at this year's convention, however work related issues will prevent me from judging. You will see me at the convention however, as I will be working in the ARBA booth each day. Please stop by and say Hello.

From Dutch I have judged around the area from the Spring shows to those of late, I anticipate a very good Dutch representation at Ft Worth. Trevor Marquis has been on a "hot streak" around Illinois, winning BOB many times, and even throwing in a BIS here and there. Trevor has worked very hard with his Dutch, and is very deserving of all accolades he receives. (At the IRBA State Convention, Trevor won the Royalty contest as King, and also won BIS!). I know we here in Illinois are very proud for him.

The Illinois State Convention had a fair turn out of Dutch, and Dan Schwandt and Theresa Kortbein came down from Wisconsin to show us what it is all about. I am not able to say enough about these two, as they support the shows, pitch right in and work wherever needed (they wrote for several breeds throughout the convention), and simply add a bit of enjoyment and class to the event with their presence. We were very happy to have had them, and hope they will return on many occasions.

The Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club, which has been rather invisible for the past couple of years, will be going through a revitalization during 2006. We anticipate bringing the club back to what it was years ago, and are hoping for a great participation from those around the area raising Dutch. I know plans are in the works to start a small news flyer, with it being sent to anyone we know of raising Dutch in our immediate and surrounding areas, with hopes that the IDRC will become as strong and active as it once was. You will be hearing more from us very soon!

If you have any questions or concerns as a member of the ADRC, please do not hesitate to contact one of your officers or directors. we are here to serve you, but need to know what is on your mind in order to do so in a manner you deserve. Send me an email, catch me at a show, or throw a rock at me if you see me passing by. I will either answer or throw one back!

Barb Kline has taken over as the new Secretary-Treasurer of the ADRC. We welcome Barb and anticipate a long lasting relationship in this capacity. If you see Barb at a show, introduce yourself if you don't know her, and welcome her to her new position. Welcome aboard, Barb!

Director's Report District Three Jill Pfaff

Hello fellow Dutch Fanciers...hope everyone had good luck breeding through late spring and summer. Seems there have been weather pattern changes out here in the west. Northern California had reports of late rain and flooding in June and then hot weather in the later summer coupled with power outages leading to losses for at least two breeders Jill Giron and the Schettler's. With this sad news the Western Dutch gathering in Reno was cancelled this year but we will try again next year.

Where I'm at in Oregon now we had unusual hot weather in May and then late rain in June. The rest of the summer was dry with a few hot days over 100, with no losses. For those of you who haven't heard through sanction request information I moved this summer. Matt and I bought our first house together. It's an old farmhouse on an acre just a few miles from our previous address, still in Corvallis, Oregon.

The summer show numbers were good with over 70 showing in Corvallis, OR in July and over 100 at the Monroe, WA specialties cluster show in August. Hilary Wittrock was a consistent winner with her Steel buck TS33 and is also doing well with Grays she is raising.

The NW Dutch RC hosted a show in Central Oregon in early September but didn't get much of a turn out with only 52 entries. There will be a few more shows this fall to look forward to. Monroe, WA hosts on October 14 and will have Briony Barnes from Kansas. In Corvallis, Oregon on November 11&12 we have a double open show and double Dutch Specialty planned and hoping for a good turn out.

I'll be scooting my boots to Fort Worth, Texas and taking a traveling companion. Emily DeHaas will be attending her first ARBA Convention and has a few juniors to show. Gene Knieling and Anthony Campbell will be sending entries with us to show so we will have a few animals representing Oregon. From Washington I know that Jean Harris, Lisa & Hilary Wittrock have entered and I believe Autumn Dennistoun will be competing in royalty and judging again, but haven't heard from anyone else as of yet.

Looking forward to seeing everyone at the shows!

Sincerely yours in Dutch

RULES TO GOVERN "SELLERS CLASS"

The Seller's Class is designed to give everyone a chance at the top quality animals. It is not a dumping g5round for those Dutch which you have not yet sold. Does sell much better than bucks as a whole, with the lowest demand usually being for Tort bucks, followed by Gray bucks, Chocolate bucks, and Blue bucks. Have an idea which ones would do well/sell well when you are heading to the show.

- 1. All entries in this class subject to sale to the highest bidder. Minimum bid of $20.00.
- 2. A 50-50 payback to consignors and the ADRC will be in effect. (Consignors share may be donated to the ADRC.)
- 3. No entry fee. Entries to be given to the Seller's Class Chairman.
- 4. Rabbits may or may not be eligible to register. Seller's do not have to be entered in the show.
- 5. All rabbits must have an accompanying pedigree. None will be accepted without. Rabbits must also have a permanent legible tattoo.
- 6. The Seller's Class will be judged as one without regards to age, sex, or color. The Dutch Standard will be the judging guide.
- 7. Youth Seller's class will precede the open.
- 8. Seller's Class will be held at the conclusion of all judging.
- 9. The winner of the Seller's Class will receive a trophy from the ADRC as well as a one year's membership.
- 10. The exhibitor whose Dutch receives the highest selling price will receive a one years membership in the ADRC. (No duplication of awards if one Dutch wins the class and is the highest selling Dutch.
- 11. The Seller's Class Committee reserves the right to reject any sick or poor specimens.
- 12. PLEASE ENTER ONLY QUALITY ANIMALS. THIS WILL BENEFIT ALL CONCERNED.
- 13. Limit of two entries per exhibitor. If a trio is entered, only one designated Dutch will be judged. A trio will count as one entry in the class.
- 14. ENTRIES WILL HAVE THEIR CAGES MARKED WITH AN ADRC CAGE TAG. THOSE WISHING TO EXAMINE THE ENTRY SHOULD CONTACT THE EXHIBITOR TO SEEK PERMISSION PRIOR TO THE SELL-ER'S CLASS.
- 15. PEDIGREES WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR VIEWING IN THE BINDER AT THE DUTCH BOOTH PRIOR TO THE CLASS.

Compliments of Gene & Kate Knieling

How Tough Are Your Rabbits?

by Wes Bright, OH

Recently at our local fair here in Ohio my daughter came to me with her friend and asked me to look at her friends rabbit as it was breathing very heavy and she could not find her 4-H advisor. This girl was not in our club so I did'nt realy know her. My oldest son had brought 2 dutch and my oldest daughter 4 dutch for the week long fair. None of our rabbits were breathing heavy at all so I figured it must be something majorerly wrong with the rabbit. I looked him over. It was hot. Maybe 92 or 93 degrees. I asked her if he had ever been shown before? She said no. That she had gotten him from a pet store a few years ago when he was small, that she joined 4-H this year with her classmate. Now the rabbit was too fat for his breed and looked very uncomfortable to be there. I asked her where the rabbit was kept at home and she said in her bedroom and the house has central air. I told her if it was me that I would pull him out of the show and take him home but her parents were not going to do that. I told them to get some frozen water bottles and try to angle a fan at him if possible. Later I got to thinkin. That rabbit should of never been there. My rabbitry is nothing close to fancy. An old barn, some outside cages that I made from scrounged materials thats about it. But none of our rabbits looked rough. We even brought a seven year old chuncky blue dutch buck who should have been collecting social security instead of being at a show but my daughter thought that he would win since he did several times in his youth. HA HA! The girls rabbit made it through the fair as did everyone elses. As an advisor/mentor we need to make sure the kids that we have taken responsibility for have a good chance to succeed. That there animals are in good condition and ready to go. Just a thought...

Why Dutch Rabbits?

I was reading a couple of articles in the Jan/Feb/March DR, one about Tony Micallef, and the other by Dale Grabenbauer. It got me thinking about how and why I began to raise Dutch rabbits? I have never shown rabbits, ever! I have been to several shows over the past three years, and my oldest daughter has shown rabbits in the county fair here in Ohio the past two years.

As a boy I would go to the pet stores and our county fair in Marysville, Ohio. I loved looking at the different types of rabbits and poultry! My Grandfather and Uncle did raise meat rabbits, but they always had some breed other than Californians and New Zealands. One day I noticed he had a small rabbit with a white stripe? I knew i had seen these at pet stores, but I had no idea what they were. I went to our school library and discovered it was a Dutch. I feel in love!

A few months later, one of our neighbors was moving and had to get rid of their pets. So, along with a bunch of gold fish, and a kitten, I brought home a blue Dutch buck and a black doe. They were the neatest things I had ever seen! Then, at the conclusion of the school year, I got a couple more from our science teacher. I never had a chance to breed these as they all died before I left for the service in 1990. I thought someday I would get more?

In 1999, while still in the service, I decided to start raising some rabbits for meat. I did this for three years, then decided to add some Dutch. I had no idea where to start? I was back in Ohio at this point, so I did what most rabbit people tell you not to do, I went to the pet store! I came home with three rabbits. A few weeks later, my wife and I were at the local TSC store and WHAM, I came home with three more! An ad i the local paper brought me five more Dutch form two different breeders. On one of the pedigrees, I noticed Kevin Hooper's name all over it. I decided to find out who he was and if he might have anything for sale to help me start what I hoped would be a show string. I found his name and information, along with several others, on the ADRC website.

I sent out four or five emails to see if anyone had anything available. Everyone responded. One was asking more than I was willing to pay, while a couple of others had nothing at the time. But, Kevin Hooper told me he had several that were too big for the pet trade and I was welcome to pick through them and get what I wanted at a good price. I made the hour and a half drive to his home and came back with 11 Dutch. A few months later, I made a return trip, and came home with another 10 or so.

I now have a nice herd. I have not added anything since then. Although the past winter did not go as planned, I am well on my way. Now that I have told my story, think back to how you got started, and what can you do to get someone else in Dutch?

Replace or not?

Recently I went to the local rabbit show in Urbana ohio that the club here puts on a few times a year. I also brought my wife and youngest boys (7 and2) to the show. We got there around noon and the boys were pretty hungry so my wife took them out to the snack truck. I watched some of the judging as I waited for a friend of mine to finish up at one of the showing tables. He had brought a tort buck for me as the other two I had gotten from him in the past did not work out. One had died within days of me getting it home from the runs and the other ones teeth would not stop growing so I put it down. As I waited I could hear some argueing behind me. I tried not to be nosey but it was hard as the lady was louder than the young boy and older man she was talking with and everyone else in the show barn for that matter. What I could make out is her son bought a rabbit at a recent show and died soon after he got it home. I do not know the length of time the kid had the rabbit but It did not matter to her as she was angry to say the least. It got me thinking about if the boy had a right to expect a refund or a replacement animal? Should an animal be gaurenteed for a certain amount of time? In my vast experience with poultry I have only had one time demand a refund. About seven years ago I sold 25 barred rock chicks to a guy about an hour away from me in upstate NY. I tried to give him some advice about his new birds but he wanted none of it. He explained that he was in FFA in school and knew it all. That was a Friday. On Sunday he called to say that all his birds were dead. He said a few died saturday and the rest were dead sunday mourning. He demanded replacements or a refund. I told him I would deliver replacements if I could see where he kept them and a few dead chicks if possible. He said no and stated that the birds were junk. At that time I decided to mail a refund check to him. Later I would find out from another breeder that they had the same proublem with him. It turns out that he would just put the chicks in an old empty water trough in his barn and they froze to death. If I would of know that he would not got a refund or any more birds from me. Some of us have got an animal and the for no reason it died. I have gotten a rabbit home a few times and between it eating my food and drinking my water it got the runs. There has been a few times that I lost them this way. Five years ago my buddy and I bought beagle pups from a local hunter. At six months old I went outside to feed her and my other beagles and she was dead. I figured bad luck. Two weeks later my buddies puppie died. He decided to have his posted by a Vet. The Vet said his puppy had a defective heart. We both got replacement puppies from him out of a different pair of dogs and both dogs are still alive today. What I am trying to get at is these things happen. Animals are funny no matter how well you take care of them things happen to them that cannot always be explained. I do not know how the situation worked itself out for the boy? If it was me I probably would of givin him another rabbit if I had extra.

The Big Picture and Something to Think About

By Megan Gottschalk, MI

I've been thinking about lilac Dutch a lot, mostly because I raise lilac Mini Rex. I get to see this beautiful variety every day. I often wonder why lilac is not a recognized variety of Dutch. It used to be. I've gotten them in chocolate litters before and it was the best one of course. I hear that a lot from other breeders who have gotten a lilac surprise. So why are lilac Dutch not a recognized variety?

Logically, lilacs fit right in. They are the dilute of chocolate, just as blues are the dilute of black. You can breed blacks and blues together, no problem. You can breed chocolates and lilacs together just the same. If lilacs were recognized, you could breed blues to chocolates, lilacs to blacks, etc. with no negative effects on your breeding program (looking at the self gene only) because everything that popped out would be of a showable color.

How do you make lilacs? One way would be to breed a blue to a chocolate. You would probably get all blacks out of this litter, but they would all carry the chocolate gene and the dilute gene. You could breed 2 different does to get 2 different litters, breed a buck and doe from each litter and you'd probably get a 9:3:3:1 ratio of blacks, chocolates, blues and lilacs. I venture into development of the lilac Dutch, but I won't have adequate space for a couple more years.

There would be no monkey business in breeding for lilacs. We'd use the varieties that we already have to create another. Lilac would be the missing "link" between our chocolates and our blacks/blues. This would be the reason to recognize lilacs as a variety of Dutch. I had a woman come up to me at a show recently and she told me that she had a chocolate and a steel. She already knew that she couldn't breed them together, so she asked me what she could get to breed to both. Black would be the obvious answer, but since so many of us use blacks with our blues, many blacks carry the dilute gene. This could possibly pop up later for her as the dilute gene would get passed on and she wouldn't know until she got something funny down the line. This got me thinking about how our current varieties of Dutch are incom-

You can breed blacks to any of the current Dutch varieties, BUT, (except in the case of blues) it is preferable that they do not carry the dilute gene. Unfortunately many do. I bred a black with no blues in his 4 generation pedigree to a blue and guess what I got? I was pleasantly surprised since I wanted to eventually get blues out of that buck. That's a good example of how blacks can carry that dilute gene even when you don't think that they do. The dilute gene would show up down the line in any of our other colors as lilac, opal, blue steel, or blue tort. So can you really breed black to any color? You can, but you're taking a risk of getting a baby or two that you won't be able to show and may not want to use in your breeding program.

I'm going to leave the steels to others as I don't claim to know anything about steels and their genetics other than you can "steel" just about any color. I do want to also bring up golds though. Gold (or orange or yellow) is the agouti version of a tort. To get golds, you would breed a gray to a tort to get grays that carry the non-extension (Ee) gene. Breed the babies together and you'd get something like a 9:3:3:1 ratio of grays, torts, oranges and blacks. This would open up the ability to breed grays to torts just like blues to chocolates.

Other possible varieties would be opal (the dilute version of gray), chocolate chestnut (the chocolate version of gray), and lynx (the dilute chocolate version of gray), all obtainable through our already recognized varieties of Dutch. If the chinchilla Dutch is approved, then it will open up more doors for other varieties. Am I calling for a bunch of new varieties? I don't quite see the Dutch as a breed of many colors like the Netherland Dwarf. I do blue to blue only with the occasional black because I haven't been able to get them out of my Rabbitry yet! However, I do see that we have 6 varieties of Dutch that aren't really that compatible. Just something to think about.

[I don't necessarily believe that breeding one color to another improves/ruins a color. Some people say that breeding blacks into blues will make the blues darker and I've seen dark blues with only a couple blacks in the 3rd generation. I've seen a clean (no smut) red Mini Rex (which is similar in genotype to a gold) out of all reds used to get good colored castors (gray) and the castor babies in the litter were all too dark. One would have expected the babies to have at least correct castor color if reds could be used to improve castor color.

With those types of examples, I believe that breeding rabbits is not like mixing colors. The quality of color might just come from the particular genetics of the rabbit... like a litter of blues with some being dark, some being light.]

ED: I received this after the last DR was published, but wanted to make sure it was included this issue.

First of all I would like to thank everyone that helped with the National Dutch show this year in Washington, PA. It ran smoothly and was really fun! I was really surprised to win Best of Breed this year, my black Jr. Doe and black Jr buck were the only ones that I had up there so when I heard the judge say that my doe won best of breed I couldn't believe it! This was probably my last national show that I will be exhibiting in at least for a while because I am going to college next fall at Ohio University so it would be hard to keep showing. My dad and brother Mac are going to continue in Open next year. I couldn't have asked for a better last show. Its always fun to see everyone again who you don't see at your local shows! I hope everyone has a great summer!

MEGAN'S DUTCH HUTCH

Dennis, Barb, & Megan Kline, OH

Hi everyone! Our name is Dennis, Barb and Megan Kline and we are Megan's Dutch Hutch. We were asked to write an article about our rabbitry by Rick Billups. Rick, Julie and Rachael came to visit several months ago and were impressed with how our barn looks and how it was constructed.

We started in rabbits in 1997 with one rabbit in the garage as a 4H project for Megan. We then grew a little larger and built our first barn, an 8x10 building which still stands and is now used to store our equipment and supplies. Several years later, we built an additional 10 x 14 barn to handle our growth. We had both buildings air conditioned for the hot summer months. Then the unthinkable happened. The air conditioning went out on the 10 x 14 building which housed our does due to kindle and does with litters. We lost about two thirds of our herd. We were lucky enough to save our herd bucks and several does which were in the other building. The grief was brief because we had to get back on track with our program. Now looking back, we feel this made us stronger and more determined to succeed in breeding quality animals.

This tragedy caused us to design and build a barn that the rabbits could feel comfortable in the summer and winter. It took us a few months to design and build the 20' by 42' barn that we have today. As you can see from the pictures, the barn matches our other buildings and home.

We built it with wood siding so the bottom 2 feet could be hinged for cross ventilation during the spring, summer and fall and locked down in the winter. The walls and ceiling are insulated with 1" blue board to keep it comfortable in both the summer and winter. A 4" gap all the way around the outside of the ceiling provides air flow in the winter. This gap goes up to the attic where a thermostatically controlled exhaust fan pulls air out of the attic up through the gap. Fans are mounting from the ceiling which blow across the top of the hanging pens and floor fans blow down the aisle ways for air movement.

To heat the barn in the winter, we have a 45,000 BTU LP gas furnace mounted from the ceiling which blows down the center aisle to keep the barn at 40-45 degrees on the coldest of winter days. The best features are the manure pits under the 2 rows of hanging cages. We only need to clean the pits three times a year and it only takes about 1 ½ hours to clean them out. The only trays we use are on the 16 doe and litter pens. Tile runs under the pits to take all the moisture out and the downspouts of the barn are tied into these tiles which flush out them out whenever it rains. The aisle ways are stone instead of concrete. Concrete tends to get damp on humid days whereas the stones get damp but dry out much faster. Also, if we happen to spill any water it just drains through the stones.

There are a lot of other little details we are sure we are missing but you are welcome to stop in sometime to get ideas and see what the love of raising Dutch rabbits can do to a family. Raising Dutch rabbits has definitely brought us closer together as a family and we have made many friendships from this great hobby.

ED: We welcome articles from all members pertaining to their rabbitry, breeding program, how you got started in Dutch, influential people in your Dutch hobby, or any article that would be of interest to the ADRC membership.

Please feel free to submit an article with pictures if desired. If it is something that may be questionable as to whether we can publish it, we will contact you with any concerns.

Observations on Steel color by Jill Pfaff

The breeding of Steels and the range of colors within the variety has intrigued me for several years. I wrote an article in 2002 describing my observations of the Steels at the National shows. Some had obvious agouti traits (like eye circles, crotch markings and light tails) and there were others that were nearly black with very little ticking.

Our current Standard for Steels describes a black body with a uniform dispersment of off-white or cream coloration on some of the hair tips. Undercolor is to be slate blue, carried as deep as possible. Surface color of the under portion of the tail, belly and legs to be as near the body color as possible. Crotch marks are accepted. Eyes-dark brown. Faults are a lack of steel coloration over the back; brassy or yellow appearance; white hairs in the colored section. Disqualifications include ring pattern over the back and upper sides and white underside of the tail.

This description seems to send a mixed message to me. Yes we allow agouti traits but not too much. It sounds like ring pattern on the lower haunches is ok. So we are looking for an animal that is in between.

I enjoyed reading the article written by Theresa Kortbein and thank her for her insights into breeding Steel Dutch and now would like to add a few of my own theories and observations. For the last few years I have made a few breeding experiments to better understand the genes involved. Unfortunately I don't believe it is a straightforward connection between the A series and E series genes and the genetic books available don't even seem to agree.

For those of you that aren't up on the genetics lingo I'll try to give you a quick introduction. There is a very good article in the Dutch Guidebook by Joanne Parker with really good explanations except for the use of the eg symbols for Gray genes which is not found in other books.

Basically there are 5 genes identified in rabbit coat color. A, B, C, D, E and each has at least two alleles, for example big B or little b. The most dominant gene is in capital letters and the recessive or less dominant in small case letters. I like organizing information in tables so here it goes.

Gene Series	other alleles in order of dominance	Notes/Examples
Α	A, at, a	A=agouti like Grays, at=tan pattern not in Dutch, a= self like Black, Blue, Chocolate and Tort
В	B, b	BB and Bb not chocolate, bb chocolate
С	C,chd,chl,ch,c	C= full color in all Dutch, chd=chinchilla, chl=seal, ch=himilayan, cc= albino
D	D,d	DD and Dd not blue, dd= blue
		Es= steel, not fully understood; ej= harlequin brindling e= non-extension, ee with aa makes Torts, with an A (agouti gene) makes orange or gold A-ee

(references: Rabbit Coat Color Genetics by Glenna M. Huffmon, Color Genetics of the Netherland Dwarf Rabbit by Bobby Schott)

So there are two copies of each gene and one comes from each parent so you can figure out what genes an animal has through test mating with animals that we already know genes from their color. Record keeping is an important part of any experiment and making notes on all the colors produced in a litter is very helpful. Another tool I use is Evans Software Program for Rabbit Pedigrees, once you have the animals colors entered it will predict genes present.

Now for an example, a Blue has self genes aa and the dilute genes dd. When you breed two Blues together you should only see Blues in the litter, theoretically it is impossible to have Blacks produced from two Blues because there are only dilute genes present. This goes for Torts also with the non-extension genes ee. Some colors have several genes combinations possible. Luckily in Dutch it is less complicated than in Netherland Dwarfs. The term Phenotype refers to the color of the animal and Genotype is the actual genes the animal carries.

Recognized Varieties of Dutch Rabbits Phenotypes and Genotypes

Phenotype	Black	Blue	Chocolate	Gray	Steel	Tortoise
Genotypes	A-B-D-EE	A-B-ddEE	A-bbD-EE	A-B-D-E-	A-B-D-Es-	aaB-D-ee
	aaB-D-E-	aaB-ddE-	a-bb-D-E-		aaB-D-Es-

Note: dashed lines (-) are a form of shorthand that mean either dominate or recessive genes can be present without listing out each possible combination. The Steel genotypes are in italics.

Now back to the Steel color. I don't believe that all Black/Gray crosses will produce true Steels. From my breeding experiments some Grays (AAEsE) can carry a Steel gene but look like typical Grays. I tested this theory by using several Gray does with Steel in the background to a Black buck half Tort (aaEe). There were outstanding colored Steels in some of the litters and I believe that the best-colored Steels have both agouti and self genes Aa and one Steel gene with another E series gene AaEs-.

Black buck

A Es	Aa EsE Steel	Aa Ese Steel
ΑЕ	Aa EE Gray	Aa Ee Gray

At this point I do not see a difference in Steels with AaEsE and AaEse or Grays with AaEE or AaEe. More litters will have to be looked at to see if there are any consistencies.

Another observation has been eye color problems in Steels with eye spots. Sometimes these eye spots go unnoticed through several shows because they tend to be located below the pupil and hidden by the lower eye lid. Several of the Steel bucks I have used that have bright Steel color have also carried a Blue gene. I'm still working on why we use a blue influence but it does seem to work. My theory at this point is that the blue has a co-dominance affect which dilutes the brassiness from the agouti gene. I don't believe there are any true silver tipped Steels in Dutch without the addition of the chinchilla gene (chd). All the current Steels are gold tipped with the genes ABCDEs and I believe the best colored steels are AaBBCCDdEs-.

To produce silver tipped Steels from what I understand the genes needed are ABchdDEs. The only way possible to bring in the chd gene is through crossbreeding from another breed. So far I have heard reports of American Chinchilla, Mini Rex and Netherland Dwarfs being used to accomplish this Silver tipped Steel. Another issue is loosing the Dutch markings coming from the dudu genes. All other breeds carry DuDu. So every time you cross to another breed you produce a Dudu gene combination that will not have all Dutch markings in the first generation. There are some other complicating factors I will save for another article.

My hope in writing this article is to generate interest in understanding the color genetics of the Dutch breed to help breeders produce better quality animals and provide a Standard, which is concise and reproducible. I look forward to hearing from other breeder's experiences and discussing color genetics with my fellow Dutch fanciers.

Sincerely yours in Dutch, Jill's Wild Dutch Bunch Breeding Dutch since 1975

How about a couple of New Ideas?!? by Theresa Kortbein, WI

tmkortbein@yahoo.com

Hello to my fellow Dutch Fanciers:

I am writing this to get a response from the membership in regards to a couple topics:

First off, I am interested to see how the members of the ADRC would feel about the implementation of a membership contest to promote our club. What I was thinking is that we could put together a contest similar to the membership contest that the ARBA sponsors. The ARBA awards cash prizes (the top five) to those who refer/recommend a new member to their organization. For those of you that are ARBA members, the results of this contest are always posted in the Domestic Rabbit magazine. I think that this would not only be a way to promote our club and increase membership, but also be fun and rewarding for the current members. I m sure there are many Dutch breeders that are already encouraging membership to others, so why not reward them for their support of our national breed club. Maybe we could give a cash award or possibly a one-year membership to the Dutch club for their efforts. I guess that could be decided later if such a program was of interest by the ADRC membership. What sparked my interest on this topic was opening the Dutch Reporter and reading the show reports. I wish that I wouldn't see so many "non-member" listings on them. I am sure that there are bound to be non-member Dutch breeders that upon being educated to the benefit of a membership would join and bring new ideas and experiences to our group.

The second topic of interest is a yearly "Dutch Breeder of the Year" Award. I know that there are other specialty clubs already giving this type of an award on a yearly basis to a deserving member that has been active to promote the improvement of the breed, betterment of the club and demonstration of good sportsmanship. I am a strong believer in recognizing those who have worked hard. Some may argue that this would take away from the Hall of Fame but I disagree with that. When I think of the Hall of Fame, I am thinking of a long-term commitment and achievement within the ADRC. The "Dutch Breeder of the Year" award would be a yearly recognition that could be awarded to a breeder that has really taken the initiative to step up to the challenge that year, a 3 year member or a 30 year member makes no difference. Basically a Dutch breeder that has really stood out that year. I would enjoy getting some feedback on these topics and quite possibly I may have caught the attention of those members that could make this happen.

These columns are an avenue where you can ask questions and advise from the professionals in our organization. For the judge's column, you may ask questions such as judging criteria, presentation on the show table, what it takes to become a judge, and proper etiquette as a few examples. For the breeder's column, questions can range from feeding, conditioning, breeding techniques, rabbit care, how to improve your herd, anything that people who have been breeding Dutch rabbits for many years might have suggestions on. If you would like to participate on the panels, just drop me an e-mail and I will add your name to our groups. The questions will be e-mailed and each participant has the option to answer or not. ASK THE JUDGE

When judging, do you take into consideration and fault a rabbit that is ungroomed, for example one that has long toenails, yellow feet and/or a dirty coat?

From Ray Brewer:

OK... While I believe that "grooming" is a minimal requirement for most breeds of rabbits, stained coats or loose fur will definitely influence the way I place a class. A judge must be able to stroke a coat and feel the texture and density to properly evaluate the fur. A dirty or stained cat interferes with the process and can even affect the color. When I fault a rabbit, for example - stained coat, I feel I can deduct a considerable portion of the points allowed in that category. If the standard allows 15 points for fur and the rabbit has a badly stained coat, I might deduct 5 to 10 points for that fault. The question may arise, do you fault the color, fur, or the condition points - actually, you could make a case for deducting points in all three

I appreciate clipped toenails, as there is a lessened chance for getting scratched; but I don't penalize for long nails. You soon learn which breeds to watch. In my opinion, Mini-Rex are by far the worst! Their nails grow very fast and come down to a needle-like point. They'll cut you like a razor! I don't penalize for slightly discolored feet.

Just a note on preventing stained - dirty coats:

My Dutch and Florida Whites does usually keep themselves pretty clean and require just a quick rub to remove any dead or loose fur. Bucks are a different story as almost all are sprayers! They spray each other, cage walls, and fronts of their feeders. Keeping bucks clean is a difficult herd management problem. My original plans for our rabbit barn had about 30 buck cages with solid partitions. We also have about an equal number of "grow out " cages - these have 1/2" X 1 " wire partitions. It soon became necessary to house some bucks in these cages. What a mess! The little buggers kept all adjacent bunnies wellsprayed. Here's what I did: I went down to Lowe's and bought a 50 ft. roll of 5mm X 14" aluminum roof flashing. This stuff is easy to cut and shape to fit the existing wire partitions. The 14" size fits easily through the cage door openings. I clamped the new partition addition to the existing ones with 1/2" hog ring clamps. I also covered the nasty/rusty fronts of feeders with 4" X 4" squares of the aluminum. It sure seemed like the boys missed not seeing each other; but they are all much cleaner now. Cost of project: $12.

From Kevin Hooper:

When we are judging Dutch, the grooming/cleanliness of the rabbit does matter -, as does all else. To address the three things mentioned, if the rabbit has long toenails, I simply suggest a pedicure! That usually gets the point across. I don't believe I have ever faulted a rabbit for length of toenail, unless it is grossly long, and then the rabbit has usually not been cared for properly anyway.

Yellow feet would be considered a fault, but would only come into play if the two rabbits I was comparing were equal in all other aspects.

A dirty coat/ or ungroomed coat does matter, and can be faulted anywhere from slightly to severely. Judging at the NDS in '05, I go back to the top two black senior bucks. I liked my top two. One however had been sprayed overnight and had many small matted spots in the coat. Not his fault, not the owners. But, when all else is equal......

Some may wonder what I mean when I say I start working my animals about three weeks prior to the NDS or ARBA Convention show. This mainly consists of grooming out any loose/dead hair. It also consists of trimming nails, cleaning stains, etc............

Just remember, that tiny stain or matted bit if fur may be tiny, but when all else is equal, the one without those faults wins!

From Keith McNinch:

I do not fault an animal for long toenails or yellow feet, but will fault an animal for dirty coat. These items will not be overly important during the class judging, but will become more important during BOS & BOB. A rabbit that has been well kept and groomed always has a better chance on the show table, and exhibitors know this, so there is really no excuse for having dirty, unkempt animals presented for judging. From my experience, there are probably a few more youth animals that could stand to have a little more grooming and cleaning before presentation on the show table.

ASK THE BREEDER

What advise and tips can be given to breed does and raise litters in the late fall and winter?

From Kevin Hooper:

First, I would suggest setting up a set of lights on a timer to allow for 14 hours of light per day. Rabbits are phototropic breeders - they respond to light - so the extra light is needed in our cooler/darker months. They also seem to respond to some heat. Some breeders who have an enclosed part of their rabbitry will move the does to the heated portion a few hours prior to breeding.

Now, last year, my suggestions did not work. My cold weather conception rate was low, and my litter success was rate was lower.

Years ago, Doc Reed suggested that I add a drop or two of wheat germ oil to the does feed every night. If I remember correctly, this was for extra vitamin B. Now it could very well be that since this seemed to be a problem in the Midwest last year, there could have been something that caused our main forage we use for rabbits (alfalfa) to be lower than normal in something in this area?

One thing that is very important: if you save does from your spring litters which won't be old enough to breed in early September, don't plan on much of a conception rate from them until the latter part of January, or early February. My experienced does seem to conceive right into late November, but the new ones don't. That is an observation that I have made the last few years.

I look forward to seeing what others do after the last winter or two that I have experienced.

From Fran Schettler:

This is a non-topic for me here in California. I can easily breed year around (and do), with no huge challenges in fall or winter. The only thing I do is adjust the timers on my barn lighting so as to artificially extend "daylight" in the barn.

We prefer to have lights on for at least 10 hours per day. If we do not adjust the lighting time with the timers during fall and winter when the natural daylight grows less than spring/summer, the does become less receptive to breeding. We have seen this when I'm slow to adjust the timers as the seasons change.

The 10 hours of light seems to keep them interested in breeding. We use fluorescent shop lights throughout the barn, but we only put one bank of them on the timers— the one that runs down doe row.

From Allan Gerhart:

October and November seem to be the two months that we have the most trouble getting does bred. As the daylight hours get shorter and shorter the does get less and less receptive and conceive less. This means that we as breeders have to work harder and longer in the fall to get the same results as we do in the spring. We as breeders especially in the Midwest need to learn to accept that we are going to have problems in the fall such as un-bred does, fewer litters and less per litter. If we know or expect this can happen in the fall and winter we will be better prepared to deal with these problems. Ideally we would like our Jrs to be almost 6 months old by the NDS that means breeding the does in the month of November. That is the worst month of the year as far as getting the does to take. We start breeding the does in late August and September and palpate the does every two weeks until they are bred and continue to try to have litters through the month of January. We expect to have fewer litters, less per litter and to lose some due to cold weather. Some does that have litters on real cold days will just refuse to take care of them; it just may not be worth their effort during real cold weather. Don't get discouraged as the next litters do just fine as the weather warms up. Keeping your barn heated and the lights on will help but it usually won't solve all your problems. We looked at breeding records from four of our most productive does, these four does all had litters in November of 2005: 17 total born with an average of 4.25 per litter and the same does had litters in May of 2006 and had 29 total born which is an average of 7.25 per litter. That means 41% more young were produced in the spring then during the fall. So my breeding tips for fall and winter is to start your breeding program early in the fall and to anticipate that its going to take more time and effort on your part during this time of year compared to the spring and summer months.

From Dennis, Barb, & Megan Kline:

The best advice is keeping lights on in your barn. We have found no difference, as far as conception rate is concerned, by leaving our barn lights on 24 hours a day 7 days a week during the late fall and winter. The size of the litters usually goes down but the percentage of misses is about the same as spring and summer. We use natural spectrum light bulbs, which simulate sunlight.

As far as raising litters, we have a propane furnace in our barn to maintain a temperature around 42 degrees. We do not use heat lamps on the next boxes. Sometimes using heat lamps can cause the nest box to be too warm for the doe and she won't nurse the babies. If a doe doesn't pull much fur we add Litter Saver Nest Box Filler to the nest box to help keep the babies warm. We check the nest boxes every morning and night to make sure the babies are staying back in the warm part of the nest and are not laying out uncovered.

The key is to try to simulate the spring season as much as possible.

CLEANING UP THE COMPETITION

By Kristy Hume

It never ceases to amaze me to see yellow-speckled faces, long toenails, messy butts and other not-so-attractive features finding their way onto the show table. They're everywhere; 4-H shows, ARBA-sanctioned state shows, national level shows, on the youth table, and yes, even on the open table. While I am no veteran to the art of showing rabbits, I have quickly learned to take pride in the animals I am putting on the table. I am very proud to say I have taken both Best Blue Fur and Best Black Fur at the NDS 2005 and 2006, and Best Black Fur at the ARBA Convention of 2005.

There is really no reason to not groom your rabbits. You're paying an entry fee to have someone judge your animal and the last thing you want to hear is, "That would have been your best of breed if you'd just cleaned him up a little." It shows respect for your animals, your hobby, the judge and the event when you put a little time into your rabbit looking as pristine as possible on the table.

The basis of a well-groomed rabbit is simply in the management of your barn. Proper nutrition and sanitation are the very minimum you can provide your rabbits with to keep them clean and ready for the show table. A healthy diet keeps them in peak condition, and everyone has their little hints and tips that they swear by. I don't know if it's a specific element or a combination in my rabbits' diets that keeps them in tip-top condition, but I know that what I do works for me, so I stick with it! All I can suggest is that when you discover what diet makes your rabbits happy and healthy, keep it the same and don't worry about what everyone else is doing! As for sanitation, everyone knows that rabbits are generally very clean animals, especially the does. I find that they keep themselves immaculate if left to their own devices! Bucks, on the other hand, are a whole different story. If they're not peeing on themselves, they're peeing on their neighbors. I always keep a divider between my boys to stop this from happening. Other than that, I just make sure to keep my cages clean and the barn ventilated.

Cleaning up your rabbits the day of the show is really not as time consuming as most people think. Most of my rabbits are basically clean, and just need a one or two minute once over. First and foremost, I try to make sure that all the rabbits in my barn have their nails clipped routinely, but at shows, the first thing I check is to make sure my rabbits aren't going to be leaving any battle wounds on the judge! I also like to make sure their vents are clean and that the rabbit doesn't have a messy bottom that needs to be cleaned up.

I carry a small container of grooming tools in my show bag. Some items I use every show, every rabbit, and other tools I might use once every couple of shows. It just depends on what you're working with.

My favorite, and probably most used item, is a product called Classicoat II. It's a self-rinsing shampoo plus whitener that you can buy from most vendors at rabbit shows. It works extremely well on any yellow spots from rabbit urine. You just soak the spots and lather it up, use a dry paper towel to dry off the area as much as possible, then later brush it out with your hands or a soft brush so it looks nice. I also like to use this product when I have a rabbit with a sticky coat from being peed on. I just put some on my hand and then run it through the hair both directions. Again, you need to make sure you do this early enough so the rabbit is dry before you put him on the table. Judges don't know what they're dealing with when they touch a wet rabbit, and it's just respectful to not make them wonder!

The hacksaw blade is growing in popularity when it comes to grooming, and with good reason. Mine is just an old, dull one my dad found for me. It works great to get any stray loose hairs, but I really like using it on the lower hindquarters of the animal. Especially when they get those little tufts of hair when they haven't quite finished molting out.

The lint comb is my favorite tool to put an all over sleek appearance on the rabbit. I really like using it on my grays, because quite often they'll have a little variation in color throughout their body, and the rough edge seems to help separate the hairs and disguise any irregularities in color.

Another tool I have is a pumice stone-type grooming block. You can buy them from vendors at shows or you can find them at horse tack shops. There are probably lots of brands, but I use a "Slick N' Easy" which is intended for horses, but works on bunnies too! If you have a rabbit with an open coat, this is the tool to grab. It gets the loose hair and leaves a nice slick appearance. It also works wonder on your molting rabbits at home!

I think this would be a good time to talk about some other coat issues in the rabbit world. First order of business: molting rabbits. A molting rabbit is going to lose an awful lot of points on coat and condition and rarely does well on the table (especially the grays who sometimes temporarily lose their ring color during a molt.) Unless you're desperate to show the rabbit, it's best to just leave him or her at home. Groom the rabbit often, and before you know it, you'll have him ready to go back on the show table!

A stained/discolored coat is another biggie. I know that some of my blue bucks can almost look chocolates when they've been urine-stained. I have found no secret to solving this problem but to just wait it out. Sooner or later, your rabbit will molt out and get his color back. It's just a matter of patience. However, sometimes your discolored coats come from sunlight, and the color has been bleached. Again, there's not much you can do but keep your rabbit out of any direct sunlight and to just let him molt out!

Also, bear in mind that I only have experience in black, blue and gray Dutch, and I'm sure that there are coat and color problems with the other varieties that breeders face. I always like to admire those nice rich, chocolate coats that seem to be an unending battle to keep.

Hopefully you've found this article useful (and maybe even a little inspiring?) If you have any grooming tips of your own, I would love to hear them. I would personally like to thank Mike Smith for his guidance on grooming rabbits. Can't wait to see everyone at the shows!

Passing of a Very Special Dutch Friend

Many of you who have only been in Dutch for the last six to eight years may not have known Ruth Wireman. Ruth was married to Jack Wireman of Jack's Bunnies. Jack was forced to give up raising the Dutch due to their traveling, and his health several years ago. Since then, they have only been hitting a couple of shows each year, usually the National Dutch Show, our Ohio Dutch Shows, and if their travel schedule permitted, the ARBA Convention.

Now, while Jack was the one always talking Dutch, and looking at (and BS ing with the best of them), Ruth was always there in support of Jack. Ruth always knew the breeders' other half. She was the one who learned about each of the breeders' families and would never fail to ask how your family members were doing. Ruth also would always ask how certain breeders who she had not seen in a while were

So, even though she was not the one who was always with the Dutch or talking Dutch, she knew us all, probably more so than Jack, until she told him all about us!

Ruth was a great person to have around at the shows as she always had a nice greeting for you. She will be missed by all who knew her.

Our deepest sympathies to Jack and his family. Ruth will always be remembered as a great Lady.

ARE YOU GRADUATING FROM YOUTH CLASSES TO OPEN CLASSES IN 2006?

Then we would like to honor you in the Dutch Reporter on a page congratulating our graduates.

Parting Comments by the editor:

With the finalization of my 2nd issue as editor, I would like to say Thanks to all those that have offered support and constructive criticism.

I have had conversations with several officers and members that have suggested some things that I will indeed be implementing in the future.

Norma has been rather ill for a few months now, and my schedule has been pretty full. I did not have the time I really wanted to devote to this DR when the time came upon me to put it together, however you will notice some changes and improvements in the future.

Any regional or state specialty club that will be having a show in the upcoming months, please send me the data for your show. I would actually like to have a "calendar of events" in each issue showing thre upcoming important dates for the next few months. Mechanics have not been fully worked out yet, but I would like to highlight important dates such as the ARBA Convention, NDS, dates to breed for Juniors for these events, upcoming Dutch specialty shows, etc. If you have anything you feel would be beneficial for the memers to see, jot it in an email and send it to me, or simply send it via regular mail (do they still have such a thing?)

Norma and I are both very sddened by the passing of Ruth Wireman. She and Jack have been very close friends of ours for many years now (over 25 at last count). I know we will miss Ruth greatly. We have rarely known a person as full of love and life as Ruth. You could always tell she had a zest for life just by that fantastic smile she always had upon her face. Our thoughts and prayers are with you and your family, Jack.

I am looking forward to seeing many of you at Ft Worth. Unfortunately, you will receive this issue of the DR after the convention, but I am sure we will all have fund and enjoy each others company. The conventions, just like life, are what you make of them. If you want to have a good time, you will. So I hope everyone came to Ft Worth with the best intentions and a grand outlook for a successful show. My fondest memories of any convention are always those spent with the Dutch breeders.

See you someplace down the road. Dick Gehr
