President's Report Sue Hill

This year's NDS seem to sneak up on us as quickly as Easter did with it being earlier than usual. We as exhibitors spent countless hours while doing chores, checking over our rabbits, hoping they would developed that body or a decent coat in time for the big event. In a blink of an eye, the show was over and we were heading back home with either a feeling of satisfaction or disappointment for how we did. Regardless, the show itself was very well run and was held in a facility that I wish we could clone and plop into many areas of the country to hold rabbit shows in. The building the Illinois group chose was outstanding. It was easy to find, very clean and well set up, and had super lighting. If Mother Nature would have cooperated just a bit more and dialed down the wind a tad, we would have appreciated the weekend even more. A trip to the parking lot to get something out of the van was a chore. Van doors don't open well against wind like that! A big thank you to everyone involved in the running of the 2008 NDS for all the time, energy, long hours on the computer and sore feet that go along with the job! We appreciated your hard work!

Congratulations to the top winners in our group! Kevin Hooper, although home for this convention, still managed to represent himself well by winning BOB with a super Gray Doe.

The Mullinax's had a very primed Black Jr. Buck, and Miss Marissa Wells had an armful between awards and holding the winners when she took home BOB and BOS Youth honors with a pair of super Blacks! Good job everyone and congratulations to all that topped your classes!

We have a new addition to our board with the changes in leadership that have recently transpired. Mr. Al Gerhart has been appointed to fill Rick Billup's spot with Ricks moving up into the Vice President's position. Al will add some new energy and we look forward to working with him in the future. Our board had a lengthy meeting on Friday night (a personal thank you to all of you sitting for that time frame) in which we shared thoughts and new ideas on the direction we hope to continue seeing our club going in. It involves some changes as well as building on some of what we already have in place. What we all really want to encourage our membership to do is keep in touch with us on any concerns, suggestions or feedback you have. We represent you and want to make sure this is a club driven by the membership and not just a few select individuals. Your district directors have their phone numbers and emails in the DR so please feel free to get in touch with them as you need to.

The committee reports will be listed in the secretary's report in this issue of the DR and will have some of the ideas each respective group will be targeting. As I mentioned in our general membership meeting, the Hall of Fame is somewhat of a "hot button" with many members, especially in regards to the criteria involved in the selection of a recipient of this award. It is going to be a big priority with Chair Rick Lehmann and his group to hammer out the details so if anyone does have suggestions, please contact him. We now have a booth committee for the ARBA conventions! Plans are in the making for a design to tie into the Kentucky Horse theme and our booth will be more than able to stand side by side with other breed groups that are decorated so nicely!

Two other new committees are the Historian and Convention Liaison committees. The Historian committee will be in the able hands of history buffs Rick and Julie Billups. Now that their daughter, Rachel is at an age that allows them to become a bit more involved in the club, they were excited to take these reins when asked. We have some wonderful history behind our club and we cannot let it fade as our senior members leave us. Rick will be conducting interviews and recovering information that we can be sharing in DR's, the website and through records we'll keep on disks as we come across it. Did you know we used to have an AOV class in the Dutch world and they were allowed to be exhibited right along side of the six colors we have today? When did that change? At some point, you'll know that answer.

The Convention Liaison committee is one that has already taken off. Dennis Kline has been putting together ideas on this for the past month, and together with Phil Lape, will be focusing on the rules, suggestions and guidelines for each ARBA and NDS convention. Our goal is to have a packet with information available to hosting clubs to help with all the planning that goes along with a show of this magnitude. Dennis will be checking with the clubs along the way to make sure timelines are being met and to identify any problems popping up early on that need to be solved.

Our new publicity chair, Todd Uran, along with Dan Monahan had a great start with new merchandise at the booth in Bloomington. Dan was telling me their goal was to test the water to see what people were navigating towards, listen to requests, and then build up more inventory for the fall. They are also looking into a newer online ordering company for some clothing items as well. There should be even more things to chose from in KY, and if you have a request on a size, please email Todd. Good job, guys!

If you did not have a chance to check out our new carriers, please do so at the next convention. They worked very well this year and we will be adding more for the fall. They are designed to collapse back into their trays after use so less space is needed for actual storage and transport. We will be fine tuning the design just a bit more for the next group of pens but thus far, the cages the membership present at ARBA's general Dutch meeting voted to purchase have been put to hard use and did their job!

We will be starting to work on an updated guidebook this coming year. There was already one person that expressed an interest in working on it. We will need to have a small group to gather appropriate photos, articles, and data. If you have an interest in this, please contact either Rick Billups or me so we can get you on the group list. It will come out after we rework our club bylaws, getting them up to today's standards so they will be correct when the guidebook is eventually published. It is a huge undertaking and will take long hours from dedicated members, but when you think of it, the guidebook is such a vital part of our club that we need to devote that time to making it as good as we can.

Now that spring is here, litters are coming along in nestboxes that stayed empty over the winter months. Many expressed difficulty getting does bred and raising litters. As the days lengthen the does cycles are more in sync with what we want them to do. With the prices of fuel to get to shows, and feed for the rabbits, herds may be reduced in size to accommodate the reserves in our wallets. It doesn't have to affect the quality of what we raise, though; I think back to the depression era when people still raised rabbits. They didn't have the quantity some have in their barns today but they did have litters on a regular basis. They just kept the best which eventually helped the breeds recognized back then to survive. Just how many does are needed to continually produce good animals?

Mr. Wilbur Williamson placed a call to me the other day and we had a chance to chat about what he feels is important with our club growth and future. He is a big supporter of the youth and has long been in favor of all the good that comes from 4-H and other groups that encourage youth to take on responsibility, find out the personal satisfaction in doing so, and eventually use these experiences to help shape them as they grown into adulthood. As he talked, it through me back into time when I was a youth breeder and how I looked at those DR's coming in with excitement. I read my guidebook over and over, highlighting articles, dreaming of having Torts like the infamous Don and Nelly Brady had in their ads. The youth are like sponges when presented with new information, and those that have been around for some time would be a great resource for them to go to for guidance. Wilbur had more suggestions that I would like to implement at the coming NDS and for the new guidebook. Thank you, Wilbur, for your insight and dedication to helping the youth!

One of the items I closed our directors meeting with, and will close with this here as well, was the need to put communication between the board and the members to the forefront. Without it, the club will not function as effectively as it can. The NDS is the hardest time to squeak in both the board and the general meeting. We would like to be able to talk as we did this past fall at the upcoming ARBA convention in KY, getting input from you and hearing what you have to say. We now have a suggestion box that will come to our National shows, courtesy of Mr. John Milroy. We are exploring ways to hold meetings online between directors and committees to facilitate better communication in a more timely manner. Lots of things are happening and we are continuing to be dedicated to making our club and the experiences we have the best they can be. See you in Kentucky!

Sue Hill

Vice-President's Report

Rick Billups

This is my first article as your Vice President and I want to thank the Board for approving my appointment to this position. I look forward to working with Sue Hill as she steps into her new role as President of the ADRC. I want to make sure I take this time to publicly thank Kevin Hooper for the time he has dedicated to the office of Presidency over the past 10 years. I think Kevin will still play an active role in the ADRC by serving on several committees. My replacement as a director of district one is Al Gerhart from Ohio. Al has been a member of the ADRC for several years and has enjoyed showing Dutch with his children during that time.

The Nationals are now behind us and we owe a BIG thanks to Dick, Norma and their crew in Illinois! The show facility was wonderful and everything went smooth. We were able to use the new carries purchased by the ADRC for NDS and Conventions and I think everything went well. The 6-hole carries collapse down into their tray for easy transportation and storage. Congratulations are in order to Kevin Hooper for winning BOB Open and Fred and Kathy Mullinax for taking BOS honors. Marrison Wells won big in the Youth Show when she took both BOB and BOS with a pair of blacks. I'm already looking forward to the 2009 NDS in Kansas, I'm sure Bob and Rick will be hard at work planning the show.

Please take time to review the minutes from the general membership meeting in this issue. The meeting went very well and I think it was productive. This issue will also have resumes from those running for office in the ADRC, please review them and make a point to vote when you get your ballot.

See you in Louisville,

Rick

Secretary - Treasurer's Report Barb Kline

First I would like to commend the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for hosting a wonderful National Dutch Show! Great facilities, great people and great rabbits.... what more could you ask for!

The first quarter of 2008 has welcomed 88 new members to the ADRC. The additional $5 new member fee has not slowed down the new members and has generated the extra funds needed to cover the ever increasing postage costs to send out the new member packets. Our memberships currently has 969 members consisting of 345 families, 110 husband/wife, 275 single, 171 youth and 68 lifetime memberships.

Please keep an eye out in your mail the first week of August for the ADRC ballot. On this ballot you will vote for the officer/board positions open this year consisting of President and one director from your district. In this issue of the Dutch Reporter you will find the resumes from the candidates running for these positions. Please read over these resumes and vote for the candidate you fill will do the best job for the ADRC.

On this ballot you will find 3 lists of judges to vote on. The largest list is a list of judges that are members of the ADRC. From this list you will nominate 3 judges that you would like to see on the senior judge list for the 2012 National Dutch Show. Remember only a judge that is a member of the ADRC can be the senior judge at a National Dutch Show. The second list is the list of the top nominees for the senior judge for the 2011 National Dutch show. Please vote for the one you would like to see be the senior judge. The club hosting the 2011 National Dutch Show will then hire their senior judge from this list. The third and final list is Open and Youth senior judge for the 2009 ARBA Convention. You will vote for the judge that you would like to see be the senior judge. This year the ADRC Standards committee will also be including the various proposals that they feel should be changed, added or deleted from the current Dutch standard. Please read this over carefully and vote for the ones you feel represent the Dutch breed the best.

In closing I would like to thank Steve Wilch for taking pictures during the National Dutch Show. Steve has volunteered to be the photographer for the ADRC. He will be taking pictures at every NDS and ARBA Convention that he attends so if you happen to see him walking around taking pictures don't just smile also give Steve a big thank you for volunteering his services and bringing his expensive photography equipment. I hope everyone has a great summer and remember....You Can't Beat the Dutch!

Barb Kline

Secretary/Treasurer

85th ARBA National Convention October 26-30, 2008 Louisville, KY

We are not designating a host hotel for this year's convention. The breakfast banquet will be held on Wednesday October 29th at 9am at the Executive West Hotel. Breakfast will consist of French toast, fluffy scrambled eggs, smoked bacon, link sausage, hash brown potatoes, creamy sausage gravy and assorted cold cereals with milk. Reservation forms will be mailed in August with the election ballot and also printed in the July, August, September issue of the DR. Donations for awards are now being accepted. Please send donations to ADRC c/o Barb Kline 4664 S. Co. Rd. 591 New Riegel, OH 44853. All members donating will be acknowledged at the convention and at the awards breakfast.

Barb administers a right cross to Erik B or is she really just tweaking his cute little cheek?

No matter where she goes, Barb is hard at work doing her secretarial duties... or does she have Space Invaders on that laptop?

Thanks, Rick !!!

Director's Report

District One

Al Gerhart

Congratulations go to Kevin Hooper BOB with a Gray Sr. Doe at the NDS and Fred & Kathy Mullinax for winning BOS with a Black Jr. Buck. In Youth BOB and BOS went to Marrisona Wells with nice a pair of Black Jr's.

A great THANKS goes to the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for all of their hard work and making the show enjoyable for all.

I also would like to thank Kevin Hooper for all his leadership and guidance that he has given to the ADRC over the years. I believe we have a very strong and active membership and we owe a lot of that to our former President. Thanks again Kevin for all your hard work and years of service.

I attended my first board meeting at the NDS, and was very impressed with how smooth the meeting went and how fast we got through all the items on the agenda. Sue Hill and the rest of the board members have put together some very active committees that are very qualified in handling and taking care of our Clubs business. I appreciate the opportunity to be on the board and I am looking forward in representing the membership from District One.

Al Gerhart

From the glowing reports I received from some of the folks who attended, I sure missed a humdinger of a NDS! I was planning to attend, then maybe on send some bunnies - but alas, things got pretty hectic here and none of my NDS plans came to fruition. Hey, there is always next year. Margie and I ARE planning on coming to Louisville. Congrats to Kevin, Fred & Kathy, and all the winners. I'm sure everyone appreciates all the hard work and preparation by Dick and the entire Illinois bunch.

Our grandson Weston continues a slow but steady recovery. After almost 4 months as a patient at the Children's Healthcare of Atlanta, he was released on April 18th to the out-patient rehab unit at the same facility. This meant that he was able to travel with his family back home to Myrtle Beach the next day. Margie, JJ and I joined the happy caravan in Columbia. Weston's Uncle Jason joined us as we neared Conway. When we turned into the sub-division where they live, a motorcycle escort awaited us. A large "Welcome Home Weston" banner fluttered in the air above the road and happy sign-toting friends and neighbors lined both sides of the street. When Weston was helped from the van, he was able to stand on his own and wave to the crowd that had now assembled in the yard. A Hugh cheer went up and dozens of eager teenagers, friends and classmates, lined up to give him a high five. An almost unbelievable outpouring of love greeted the family as they entered there home for the first time in four months. Their neighbors and church family had given their house an extreme make-over inside and out. Everything was redone from flooring to ceiling. New tile, cabinets, countertops and appliances awaited Debbie's tear-filled eyes in her new kitchen. Weston loves his "new" room, painted and decorated in the motif of his 2 favorite sports teams (Indianapolis Colts and Tenn. Vols). Weston and his mom have had to return to Atlanta to continue rehab. Dad (Graham) and little brother Caleb stayed in Myrtle Beach to work and go to school. Please continue to pray that God will complete the miracle he has begun for our family.

The Dutch Nationals are over and now everyone's attention is probably breeding and preparing for the Convention at Louisville, KY in October.

Thank you to Dick Gehr and his crew for hosting a fine Dutch Nationals. The building was super (didn't even know Min Lop Nationals were being held in same building), judges were all quality Dutch judges, and entire two days ran very smoothly. It was really great not having cooping but two high, with plenty of isle room.

Congratulations to all Open & Youth winners. I'm sure a list of winners will be listed elsewhere in this issue.

Please talk to your Directors and various committee members at local shows to keep abreast of the various activities involving our club. This also gives members a chance for their input and for officer's and director's to know the wishes of the membership.

Some of the committee activities are:

1. Constitution & Bylaws Committee - The Board decided that maybe the entire document needs to be brought up to date with wording and other outdated sections, rather than with individual amendments.
2. Hall of Fame - Rich Lehman, chairperson has been charged to have his committee review and make recommendations to get Hall of Fame nominations up and running again.
3. Standards Committee - Warren Wiltman has been named as chairman. Thereas Schwandt and Kevin Hooper have been added to this committee. Recommended changes to standards will be mailed out for a club vote in late summer. Most changes under discussion at this point are wording and clarification.
4. Dutch Guidebook - President Hill will be naming a committee in near future to update our Guidebook. A tentative publishing date of 2001 was discussed. This will allow any new standards adopted for next Standard of Perfection be included. In the Guidebook.
5. Sweepstakes - Dick Gehr will be making some recommendations to our present sweepstakes. One item discussed was the possibility of a herdsman award as a way for Quality sweepstakes recognition. Dick is also looking at other club systems for awarding points.

There are several other committees hard at work. As I have highlighted above, members need to keep abreast of recommendations or suggested changes from the various committees.

Last, congratulations to Sue Hill - President, Rick Billups - Vice President, and Allan Gerhart - District One Director. These individuals will continue to make the Dutch Club the best in their new offices.

Another NDS is behind us. It seems all winter long we wait and wait for it to come; the rabbits we plan to take change as we continue to wait and finally it comes. The list of things you plan to do and the people you hope to talk with, the questions you plan to ask, go unfinished as you drive home. The weekend always seems to just fly by and I find myself wishing the next NDS was a little sooner. There is talk of extending the weekend one more day which I feel would be an excellent idea that would give us all more time to spend together.

This year, I worked with a youth table during the judging. There are many youth showing that I've seen, but don't know their names and this is a better way for me to remember them. In past years while working on the open tables, I found there are always plenty of people willing to help out with carrying rabbits back to the cages when they are judging blacks and then a little less during the blues, and by the time we get to chocolates, the crowd is gone and you hope the few that have stayed don't leave. While working with the youth there was never as big of a crowd just watching until selecting variety winners, but all day long we had youth ready to return rabbits to cages. A few were helping pretty much of the day, but for the most part when a few would leave, someone else would step up to take their place. This was the least amount of returning rabbits to cages that I have had to do at a national show. We have the best youth breeders and I'm proud to have them in Dutch.

I was shocked and saddened to hear Kevin was stepping down as president of the ADRC. I had just become a director and was looking forward to working with him and learning the way he runs the club. He has done so much for the club and for the breed itself. I would like to thank him for his time and talents and I understand that spending time with his family is more important. I am glad that he will stay involved in other ways.

I would like to thank the Illinois Dutch Club for hosting the show and especially Dick and Norma for all of their hard work. Theresa and I go to many of the shows in Illinois and have gotten to know most of the Dutch breeders, in both open and youth. It's nice to see them come together to put on this event and maybe it will be the rebirth of a stronger Illinois club. Seeing youth breeders like Andrew Craig and Trevor Marquis step forward to take an active role demonstrates great leadership and a feeling that the Illinois Dutch Club has a bright future ahead.

Congratulations to all of the exhibitors, especially those whom did not find themselves at the top of the class, who go home a little sad, but even more hungry to do better next time. Remember, the rabbit that placed lower in it's class this year just might produce next years winner....so keep your bucks happy, the does workin', the nest boxes full and the show tables competitive.

Probably, someone in this issue has already notified you the NDS is now history! I can attest to that fact.

In my opinion, and you might think I am a bit biased, I believe the show was a success. From my perspective, it was a success as soon as the Dutch exhibitors started showing up. I have been privileged to see a number of articles for this DR already while setting it up, and Norma and I are getting a lot of kudos for the show. I would just like to make it known that she and I have been doing this for a lot of years, and although very rewarding, the kudos are not what we do it for. We do it to offer the best show we possibly can, to those of you that are the actual meat and potatoes of the show, the members and exhibitors. There would be no NDS if it wasn't for your participation, and you should be commended for making each and every NDS the success they have been. They only get better because of you.

Thanks to all those that have mentioned us, however there are a lot of other people that should receive the "pats" and "congrats".

Andrew Craig and Trevor Marquis were the right and left arm of the event. Andrew kept the Open show organized and moving like he had been doing it for 20 years or more, and he hasn't even been walking that long (not sure he is even that old yet!). Trevor did equally as well on the Youth side, and handled a couple of situations like an old pro. I, and the IDRC are extremely lucky and fortunate to have two such fine men coming up in our ranks that will carry the torch long after I have burned out. You also, as members of the ADRC, will benefit by these guys, as I am sure you will attend more events which they are overseeing, and I have every confidence they will be nothing less than spectacular. Thanks, Andrew and Trevor for an absolutely outstanding job!

Haley Craig helped do a lot of the secretarial duties from before the show started until the last exhibitor had left. Haley is just another bright spot in the future of the IDRC and the Dutch breed here in Illinois. I also expect to see her very active on the National level before it is all over. She is always there to help whenever needed, and in any capacity.

Our raffle was excellent, due to the hard work and great efforts of Karen Craig and Debbie Marquis. Long hours before and during the event were sacrificed by these two "Gems", and everyone should be grateful to them for making the raffle a part of the NDS that everyone could enjoy. Thanks, ladies....everything you both did is appreciated more than you can know.

No NDS has ever been successful without all of the table help received from so many members. From those that help getting the rabbits to and from the table, to those writing for the judges. The ADRC is indeed fortunate to have a number of people that work in these capacities every year, whether they are a part of the sponsoring club or not. No doubt, I will leave someone out, as I did not have the opportunity to be out "on the floor" and see everyone that was pitching in, but those I am aware of are; Dan & Theresa Schwandt, Dan & Dawn Schwartz, Eric & Sharon Mixdorf, Jim Smith, the Klines, the Lapes, the Graybeals, Myron Millman, Jon Orr, Mike & Cathy Hart, Richard Riva, the Lekas, all of the ADRC Board members, Gary Mohr (who probably had more hours than anyone into this event, and he is not even a member or raises Dutch, yet...), Julie Hume who helped with our Youth program, and Brian Lambert, who graciously donated a lot of time and effort into the Royalty contests, and kind of stood in at the banquet for me. I know there are lots of others, and I really do apologize if I did not mention your name, however as stated I was tied up and did not get to see everyone that was helping. Regardless THANKS to each of you, and you know who you are.

Most of all, I need to Thank Norma. Throughout the many years of my involvement in the rabbit hobby, I have only been a "poster boy" and received a lot of the credit that should go to her. Norma does a tremendous amount of the work behind the scenes, and keeps me on the ball. (She even runs for my medications when necessary!). Nothing I have done in the rabbit hobby could have been accomplished without her help, efforts, dedication, and loyalty. Thanks, Norma!

I am unable to give any detailed account of the Board meeting, as I was absent from most of it working on show stuff. I am sure others will give a good account, and Barb will probably have the minutes for all to read. Talk about efficiency....the ADRC is lucky to have Barb, and I hope everyone realizes that and appreciates her tremendous efforts for this organization.

Sue Hill is now at the helm of the ADRC, and I need to take a moment to Thank Kevin Hooper for his many years of dedication and leadership to the club. Kevin kind of took us through the late 1990's and into the new century. He has never failed to give his all for the ADRC, and although he is presently on "standby", I am sure you will see him back and involved in some major way in the near future. Once it is in your blood, you can't shake it....kinda like needing a fix every now and then (I know that from my weakness for chocolate!).

Congratulations and Thank You to everyone that attended the 2008 NDS and helped in any way. Your kindness and participation is what made it all possible, made it a success, and hopefully made it something that each of you will look back on and say that you were glad you attended.

Lastly, I do not believe a better line-up of judges for any NDS has been assembled. Scott Williamson, Chris Hayhow, Glen Carr, Marv Wunderlin, Erik Bengtson, and Brad Boyce did an absolutely tremendous job of evaluating and placing the animals. Each exhibitor should feel you got a good look for each rabbit shown, and I do believe that can be confirmed by the class winners.

Congratulations to the National Dutch Show winners and all those who worked to put on a great weekend. As usual the weekend went way too fast and it was great to see all my fellow breeders who share interest in this great hobby.

I'm sure everyone is well aware that in the near future this club will need to make a decision on whether or not to accept the Chinchilla color as another showable variety of Dutch. There are a number of people that have been working hard to develop and perfect this variety. As a member of the Standards Committee, I'm interested in hearing what people think of this new color of Dutch being accepted. I would also be interested in hearing from some of the Chinn breeders on how they feel having this variety will benefit us. I've heard that the Chin color will help us with getting cleaner looking Steels. Is there any real evidence of this so far? Since we're looking at other varieties, what about the Lilac color? I've seen some articles in the past where breeders think having this variety would also be beneficial. After all, I understand that years ago when there was an AOV class that the Lilac color was very popular. So popular that in many cases more Lilacs were shown than Steels. If this is so, why was the Steel color accepted as a variety and not the Lilac?

Hopefully I've sparked some interest and I look forward to hearing your opinions. You can e-mail me at wwiltman@LsoL.net, I will share these opinions in future articles.

Hello Fellow Dutch Fanciers,

Hope everyone is feeling Spring in the air with nestboxes full of promising Dutch for ARBA Convention in the fall. We've had whacky weather in the Pacific NW with snow on April 19th in the Willamette Valley, pretty surprising since some winters we don't have snow at all.

I'm proud to report that there has been a strong showing of Dutch at local 4-H shows so far this year. Katie Kimmel won her first trophy taking BIS with her well-loved Blue buck "Sugarfoot".

Katie & Sugarfoot "Bess".

Madison Yang

Madison Yang did well in Showmanship using her Blue jr. doe

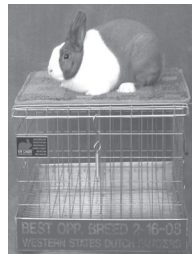

Carmen Yang enjoyed dressing up her little Gray doe "Nala" for the costume class. I've sent a few pictures of the girls with their Dutch.

Carmen Yang

Unfortunately I don't have a photo of Josh Huff winning RIS but last issue sent one of him with his Tort buck "Tommy". In my area we don't have many Youth ARBA shows so kids usually show in Open class when not entered in 4-H shows.

The spring shows are now in full swing, the Western States Dutch Fanciers hosted a double show in February with the Fire Mountain Netherland Dwarf group in Newberg, Oregon. There were 90 Dutch, the morning show was judged by Roger Hassenpflug, ARBA District 1 Director. BOB was a handsome Blue jr buck from Gene Knieling and BOS was a Tort Sr. Doe raised by myself and Matt Gholden. In the afternoon club member Briony Barnes from Kansas judged picking a Black doe and the same Blue buck both raised by Gene Knieling.

Jill's BOS Tort

In late March we traveled to Southern Oregon near my hometown in Eagle Point to the Pear Blossom RBA double show with about 50 Dutch entries. Winning honors went to Terisa & Jeff Silbernagel, Gene Knieling and Carmen Yang.

I traveled to Bloomington, Illinois recently for the NDS and had a great time visiting with old friends and meeting new ones. This year Anthony Campbell traveled with me and was a great traveling companion from reading the map after we flew into St. Louis and then driving about 3 hours to the show. Also helping me with the two airline crates full of bunnies and luggage while I took a shuttle bus to pickup the mini-van we rented.

Besides the great fun going to NDS we had an added bonus of visiting the ARBA offices and especially the library collection of books, trophies, pictures and more books ! it was really interesting seeing the collection memorabilia but I must say I could get lost there just reading. I found a wonderful little book on rabbit color genetics dating back to 1930.

Jill, Lisa & Hilary Wittrock at ARBA

Anthony in ARBA Library

There was also a collection of Standards going back to 1927 when Dutch allotted 85 points to markings. Anthony and I were there bright and early on Friday morning, staying till we were hungry for lunch and then spent another couple of hours on Sunday when Brad Boyce generously open the offices again just for Dutch people.

Jill with Best AOV

As always I enjoyed seeing all the wonderful rabbits at NDS and especially enjoyed the interesting colors. I was thrilled to win the AOV class with a handsome Gold Sr. buck that went home with Rachel Zimdars of Wisconsin. We did some swapping and I brought home her 2nd place Tort Sr.

buck, so now our barns are bonded.

I'm already looking forward to driving next year to Kansas even though it will take two days behind the wheel. It keeps getting more expensive to fly with rabbits. This time it cost $100 per crate each way and is going up to $200/crate in the fall. It also takes a lot of planning to schedule flights, makes me wonder how long we can continue, always having so far to travel from the West Coast. Looks like those people from the Midwest and East coast traveling to next years ARBA Convention in San Diego will get to experience the challenges of long distance travel with rabbits. Tomorrow I will be making a 5 hour drive for a triple Dutch show weekend in Washington.

I'd like to give a BIG thanks to the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for all their hard work and a great show !

Until next time, best of luck with your Dutch.

Another NDS has come and gone and now it is time to think about State Conventions and the all too soon ARBA Convention. The NDS in Bloomington was a great show with a very nice facility and accommodations. Thanks to Dick, Norma and their group for all the hard work. The weather there was cold and snowing, while it was in the 70's in Seattle. Go figure. And finally, Congratulations to all the winners.

The Northwest Dutch Club will have had their annual "Nothing But Dutch" show by the time this is printed. This is the Northwest show that was started 12 years ago that also includes our awards banquet and election of officers. Congratulations to those who did well at this show and to the newly elected officers. 2007 sweepstakes winners for the NWDRC are, 1st Pete and Debra Nelsen, 2nd Sarah Cleavenger, 3rd Jean Harris, 4th Hilary Wittrock and 5th Arnold Ferguson.

I have gone to four local shows so far this season and the numbers have all been good and I have seen a few new faces. The winter must not have hurt us as bad as other places as most of the rabbits on the table are juniors.

I read the article in the last DR about registering rabbits and while I don't disagree with the reasons for not registering, I do have a different opinion on why people should register their rabbits. There are very few people who enjoy the reputation and success that Kevin does. As such, he can sell a rabbit without a pedigree and people would wait in line to buy it, myself included. So it really doesn't matter if his rabbits are registered or not, he can still find plenty of buyers. When looking to buy a rabbit from someone I don't know, I will look at the pedigree for the colors and the weights of the animals in the background. Next I will look to see how many of the rabbits from this breeder are registered. While it is true that registering only means they meet the minimum for the standard of the breed it also tells you that there are animals in this line that are free from disqualifications such as malocclusion, missing dewclaws, freckles or one testicle. Next I will look to see how many of the rabbits in the background are Grand Champions. If there are several and the breeder shows in highly competitive parts of the country, then I know he is not only producing showable animals but also winning animals. This is good information to determine if we are willing to buy that rabbit from an unfamiliar breeder. It is also system I use when looking at rabbits in an auction or sellers class. And as for the cost of registering your rabbits if you have a large herd, I agree that it is very expensive. But you can do as I did and get a registrars license and now your cost is cut in half. You can also register rabbits for others to offset the cost of registering your rabbits completely. While the registration system may not be perfect for our breed, since you can get a "Best In Show" animal out of two mismarked and disqualified animals, it does give some help and guidance to other breeders.

And finally I would ask that everyone take the time to read the minutes of the board and membership meetings when they are printed in the Dutch Reporter and also the Domestic Rabbit magazines. Staying informed about the direction and the workings of your club not only makes you a better member, it makes a better club.

The 2008 National Dutch Show is now a part of history. What a great show it was. Congratulations to everyone who attended! It was an outstanding representation of the Dutch Breed as a whole and of course, our Big Winners! Kevin Hooper received Best of Breed in open with a Gray Senior Doe and Fred and Kathy Mullinax won best opposite of sex with a Black Junior Buck. In the Youth Category, Marrassa Wells won Best of Breed with a Black Junior Doe and Best Opposite with a Black Junior Buck.

I must give a Big congratulations and Thanks to the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for putting on such an incredible show. Dick Gehr, Norma Hart, Andrew, Karen and Haley Craig, Trevor and Debbie Marquis, Brian Lambert along with the "Real Workers" Mike and Cathy Hart, Myron Millman, Dan and Theresa Schwandt, Dan and Dawn Schwartz, Jon Orr, Gary and Joyce Ruch, Richard Riva and all the IDRC families. I salute you. Thank you from the bottom of my heart. I know what a "Herculean" effort it takes to put on an event like this. It was very much appreciated.

There were 903 Rabbits shown in open class by 73 exhibitors and 414 rabbits in youth shown by 48 exhibitors. It was a busy Saturday but things flowed along nicely. I personally did not get to see much of the judging. My six week old surgically repaired left knee was asking me not to stand long on the concrete floor. "OUCH"

The sellers' class auction, I believe, was once again a success. It took place Saturday following the completion of judging. There were a lot of nice animals in Open and Youth, but perhaps a few too many Bucks. When a Doe was auctioned, she usually brought top dollar. Hopefully, everyone had fun. There were many people in attendance and I saw much laughter going on in the crowd. Also, thanks to Michael Smith of Michigan for allowing me to verbally harass and tease him during the auction as he does every year. Mike has a good sense of humor and takes it with a smile...at least I think he was smiling. Either that or it was gas pains!!! Hmmm!?? Thanks again, Mike.

Smiles and laughter were everywhere. During the NDS weekend, even when things went not exactly as planned, everyone seemed to just enjoy the experience. These are the things that keep us re-living the show all summer and into the fall. By the way, just to dispel a myth, I did not set off the smoke detector at the Ramada Saturday morning. It was an English muffin and a toaster at the continental breakfast. I must admit it was one heck of a wake up call to the guests. Seeing 50 plus Dutch Breeders standing in the hallways in various stages of undress was very interesting.

The banquet was fun for everyone except maybe for Dick Gehr. Poor Dick just wanted everything to be perfect. But as we all know, "stuff happens". The food was tasty and good. Jill Pfaff and I just rubbed noses and pretended we were Inuits "Eskimos" in Alaska. One of my traveling partners, Jay Carlson, (whose daughter Claire shows in youth) actually scooped some pasta and two ice cubes bounced onto his plate! I laughed so hard I was crying! These are the things that are the uncontrollable "stuff" but it makes for a lot of laughter and fond memories. And speaking of memories, I need to work on my memory. At my age, I am retaining water and nothing else which causes me to forget rabbits at the show. I received a call from Jill Pfaff on the way home telling me I left a gray senior Doe at the show. Some how on my list I had marked it was "sold". It was not. Janet Bowers of Michigan was still in the show room and she took her home. After hanging up, I told my travel companions what I had done. Gary Clark, Chris Hayhow, Jay Carlson, Bob and Char Bergene were all wondering how I could be so forgetful. I had no excuse! Five minutes later Jill called again to say Bob had a Black Junior Buck behind as well--I just kept quiet. It's a long walk home from Illinois to Kansas City

The Board has given me a project as Chairman of the "Hall of Fame" committee.. I have been given the task of re-writing the criteria for induction into the Hall of Fame. This should keep me busy during the hot summer months. I got some very helpful input from Jay Imes at the NDS. We sat down and talked "Hall of Fame" for 30 minutes and now I will take his and any other input others might have and go to work.

There are not enough superlatives I can say about the job our webmaster/mistress, Julie Hume, has done with the Dutch Web site.. It's "Just the Best". Thank you Julie. Speaking of "outstanding", that is what can describe the job our new publicity department has done. Todd Uran- and Dan Monohan have lots of new Dutch items. I picked up my new Dutch "throw" with all the varieties on it and a new pair of Dutch Boxer shorts which I was happy to model for anyone who would look. Actually only I looked. Everyone else showed complete indifference. "I say to heck with Good Taste", but they are cute--honest--take my word for it. Also Dan and Todd have a great new selection of shirts and pullovers as well. Check out the on-line store at our website.

In closing, I just want to thank again the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for an outstanding show and weekend filled with many wonderful and funny reflections. I hope to see everyone in the fall at the ARBA convention and then again in Kansas in the spring of 2009 as we host the NDS.

Rick

Committee Reports

Sweepstakes: Dick Gehr proposed reconstructing the Rabbit of the Year contest, reconstructing the BOB/BOS contest and renaming it the Award of Excellence and adding a Hearsman of the Year contest. The variety sweepstakes will remain the same. Dick will write an article explaining the changes he is proposing and it will be published in the Dutch Reporter for members to comment on. These changes would not take into effect until January 1, 2009. These changes will be voted on by the board and membership at the next meeting at the 2008 ARBA Convention.

Sanctions: Dick Gehr reported that everything is going fine with sanctions. No issues to report.

Dutch Reporter: Dick Gehr reported that there were currently no issues with the Dutch Reporter. A list of items that are to be included in each issue and a list of items specific to certain issues will be given to Dick to use as a checklist for each issue.

Audit: Jim Rydell reported that the audit committee met and reviewed the 2007 year end financial statements and had no findings.

ARBA Booth Decorating: Melody Stremkowski reported that the theme of the 2008 ARBA Convention is "Running for the Roses" The committee is coming up with many ideas for decorations.

Website: Julie Hume reported the additions of a few new pages, Winner's Circle, Dutch Reporter articles, online Publicity store. Julie voiced her concern on the show report page. She has not been receiving updates. The breed information page is the most popular page on the website. Barb Kline is looking into using Authorize.net for the online store for Publicity, membership renewal and sanction requests.

Seller's Class: will be contacted to judge this year's seller's class. The seller's class needs to be kept either right after judging is over or right after the banquet is over, moving it to Sunday morning will not work. The deadline to enter the seller's class will be noon.

NDS/Convention Liason: Dennis Kline and Phil Lape will head up this committee to develop rules and guidelines for the hosts of the NDS. This committee will report to the board before the ARBA Convention so that they can review what the committee has developed. These rules and guidelines can be used as packets and/or DVD's to clubs that are considering hosting a NDS. Deadline dates will also be set up for the host club to check in with the committee.

Scholarship: Todd Uran reported that there were 3 applicants this year and one of them did not meet the 3 year membership requirement. The winners of this year's scholarship are Katie Bickelhaupt and Cody Lape and they will each receive $750. The scholarship committee is raffling a GPS and an Ipod shuffle this year at NDS. Todd also asked to be replaced as the Scholarship chairperson due to his commitments to the Publicity committee. Sue Hill asked for the wording to be changed in the Scholarship guidelines item #3 to be "currently have at least 12 credit hours of college education" Pins will be given to all scholarship winners in recognition of their achievement.

Publicity: Todd Uran reported that they have lots of new inventory and it is selling very well. The online store is working well with orders going to Todd and the payment going to the treasurer who then lets Todd know to ship the items. Barb Kline asked if any money needs to be set aside for the Best in Show fund. At this point no monies will be set aside.

If you have a question you wish to pose for either the "Ask the Judge" or "Ask the Breeder" columns, just e-mail or mail your question to me. These columns are an avenue where you can ask questions and advise from the professionals in our organization. For the judge's column, you may ask questions such as judging criteria, presentation on the show table, what it takes to become a judge, and proper etiquette as a few examples. For the breeder's column, questions can range from feeding, conditioning, breeding techniques, rabbit care, how to improve your herd, anything that people who have been breeding Dutch rabbits for many years might have suggestions on. If you would like to participate on the panels, just drop me an e-mail and I will add your name to our groups. The questions will be e-mailed and each participant has the option to answer or not. This is the chance to get a lot of viewpoints from across the country!

ASK THE JUDGE

What is the proper way to examine the neck marking? It seems that there are a number of different techniques that judges use to check the neck marking, including pulling the ears apart, blowing into it and brushing the fur down etc. Please describe the proper way to evaluate this marking.

From Kevin Hooper:

There may be a number of different techniques used to examine the neck marking, but there is only one proper way. The thing to remember when examining our Dutch is to do so without distorting what is actually there. The best way is to hold the ears together and erect, and look behind to see how the neck marking appears. If we brush the fur down, that will change the marking. If there is a question as to a spot in the neck, then blowing into or using your fingers to move some fur may be warranted.

From Jan Coffelt:

This may be too simple of an answer for you but it is the way I examine for the neck marking.

With the rabbit sitting on the table I gently take the tips of the ears and gently pull them forward and exam the neck marking. If the neck marking looks clean that is all I do. However if the neck appears ragged I might blow into the area looking to see if there is a distinct spot. I do not think it is necessary to dig or prod the area looking for a disqualification.

From Keith McNinch:

I pull the ears apart and blow into the fur to observe the underlying marking, similar to evaluating other markings like the undercut on Grays. This is the only true way to ascertain the correctness of the neck marking, especially when the fur is not in good condition. When the fur happens to be in good condition, the surface characteristics will generally confirm the results of the earlier close scrutiny. After all these years, I've never been instructed about the "proper" way to assess the neck marking, but instead have relied upon my earlier days of raising Dutch. If I utilize the same essential techniques when examining animals in a class, then all exhibitors will be treated fairly.

ASK THE BREEDER

I just bought some Dutch rabbits that I want to show, but I am confused about feeding. Some people tell me to buy high protein for the feed and some say regular protein. Some say to feed hay, others say they don't need it. I have heard that show animals should have sunflower seeds, linseed oil, wheat germ oil, oats, calf manna, etc. Others say I should not feed vegetables like carrots and lettuce. I would like to know what people who successfully breed and show rabbits feed.

From Kevin Hooper:

I am a believer in simple is better. Find a good quality pellet which is high in fiber - 25%, but not that high in protein - 15-16%, and let them eat it. I do not use any conditioners or treats. I feed about 2/3 of a cup (measuring cup) of pellets per day. If the feed is of a good quality, then you are giving them a balanced meal, and anything else you may add will throw that out of balance.

I know the rabbits like the conditioners/treats/veggies/fruits, but I like ice cream, and if I eat too much, too often,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,

I do have a few Dutch which are more active. For those I will feed a higher energy feed than what I normally give the others. This may mean a higher protein feed for you. For me, it means a feed which has some grain, unlike my regular feed which is all forage based.

Give them a balanced meal, then if you have the genetics, they will do the rest!

From Jill E. Pfaff:

I recommend a good quality feed with 15 to 16 % protein for Dutch, I personally use Heinhold 15-20 show along with Heinhold Starter pellets for does with litters. I feed lots of hay-almost daily and I use high quality grass hay with large leaves so it doesn't fall through the cage floor as easily, sometimes I put the hay in toilet paper rolls (a trick I learned from my friend Pete Nelsen). For show rabbits I do supplement with a seed mix I make and call Jill's treat mix which includes: black sunflower, safflower, flax seeds along with rolled oats, barley, and a little calf manna. I recommend 1/2 tsp daily on top of feed or in a separate bowl and the rabbits really seem to like it and it helps give the coat a healthy glow.

I also feed treats from the house with moderation like leftovers from salad makings: carrots, broccoli, celery, squash but not lettuce, sometimes apples and bread.

From Fran Schettler:

You should feed a high quality, fresh rabbit pellet with about 16% protein (regular protein) to your show rabbits. Breeding does or unweaned kits may benefit from a higher protein 17% pellet but that is an individual choice. That plus water is all that is absolutely necessary. As a side choice, you may also choose to feed your show rabbits one the supplemental feeds such as Doc's Rabbit Enhancer or another grain or vitamin mixture that might be available in your local area. This will frequently have many of the items you listed in it and may add to the competitiveness of your animals by maintaining the best possible condition for longer. Make sure it is a mixture that is commonly used by rabbit breeders and not someone's whim or some pet market brand. Some people swear by feeding a good quality hay weekly but it is not necessary for Dutch.

For my show Dutch and herd bucks, I feed rabbit pellets plus a local grain mixture made by Barbi Brown here in California plus water. That's it! I do not recommend feeding veggies or fruit unless it is a bit of carrot, a bit of apple or a bit banana. Notice I said a "bit". That means a small quantity every once in awhile and only as a treat or as a food source in a carrying cage!

From Olivia Wismer:

Excellent question and one that I'm sure will provide many different answers, I have had rabbits for 10yrs and currently show in youth (for one more year) In those 10 yrs (4 as a breeder and exhibitor) I have found a breeding program that works for my rabbits.

First, let's think about pellet and protein. For my rabbits I use Purina, I have tried many other brands but keep going back to Purina. I use the green bag with 16% protein. I feel that is the highest percentage of protein that you want, I have tried 18% but just didn't get the flesh condition or the fur condition I got with 16. I also do not feed pellets free choice; I limit my rabbits intake to 1/4 cup in the morning and night. Pellets were originally designed to feed lab rabbits that would typically not live to their full life span and therefore are low in fiber and high in carbs. Which brings me to the next very important part of my rabbit's diet and it is Hay. My rabbits all have hay racks that are filled every night with mixed grass hay or timothy hay. Rabbits are herbivores and are well adapted to a high fiber diet, so the more fiber it eats the healthier it is. GI track will be. Hay is the only thing that my rabbits are fed free choice.

I also have a 3rd part to my rabbit's daily diet, and is for some reason controversial. I feed my rabbits greens everyday at night. They are given about 1 cup of dark leafy greens such as Kale, collards, red leaf etc. Many breeders believe that greens are bad for rabbits and should not be fed at all, but actually they are very good for them. If the rabbit is eating hay it's body is already used to the high fiber content, that greens will also provide. A few reasons that breeders believe that greens are bad for rabbits was because people would give a large helping of greens to a rabbit that was eating only pellet, this resulted in diarrhea since the digestive system was given too much fiber too fast. But if the rabbit is eating hay there is typically no reason the rabbit cannot have greens. I have been feeding greens for 4 yrs now and have had no problems at all, The one compliment I get at almost every show is what a nice coat and condition my rabbit/s have. I do not feed any extras such as sunflower seeds, except for during molt or sometimes in the winter, but my rabbits keep their condition, without it. I hope this helps. I recently wrote a paper for my pre vet class on rabbit nutrition So, alot of this information in from my own research and my own experience and of course some trial and error! You can find more information on my feeding program at www.freewebs.com/creekside_rabbitry .

From Bob Bergene:

To the prospective Dutch showmen that just bought some rabbits and wants to show them I would first stress CONSISTENCY in feeding. Feed them the same amount of feed each day at the same time. Do not full feed them, but limit feed them by feeding them about 1/2 cup of feed per day. Now, as far as what to feed, I would suggest that you look for a feed that is about 15% protein, 20% fiber and about 3-4% fat. You can find this information printed on the ingredient tag on the feed bag. Manufacturers will put the major ingredient first and then in declining amounts the other items they put in the feed. I would not select a high protein feed as this has a tendency to produce a molt condition. A high protein feed would produce more heat energy in the rabbit and that is something that you do not necessarily need when you are conditioning rabbits for show in the summer and early fall. The rabbit pellet that you are feeding will have about 40% dehydrated alfalfa pellets, so you do not need to actually add hay as they are getting adequate hay in the diet. It does not hurt to give them a small handful of hay occasionally, so they get a different texture feed from the pellet, but keep in mind that the pellet that we recommended that you use is a BALANCED FORMULA. When you start to add a lot of things to the rabbit's diet in addition to the pelleted feed, you no longer have a balanced formula. The BALANCED FORMULA has the correct amount of protein, fat, fiber, vitamins and minerals that your Dutch needs for growth and reproduction. You also asked whether to feed linseed oil, wheat germ oil and sunflower seeds, these ingredients will have a tendency to put on a desirable finish on show rabbits, but may not be necessary to use. Many of the "show formula" feeds will have a higher fat content like 4% instead of the 2% in regular feeds. If you are using a show formula feed you will note that it will have higher fat content and this is from adding some type of oils to the feed ration. Most people that show rabbits will have their own ideas of what to feed, how much to feed and whether you should supplement with show treats. So you will get a wide range of ideas from people and the main thing is to decide on a feed and stick with it. Remember what we said about consistency. That means do not change feed, if your rabbits do not win at this show or that show.

Good luck feeding and showing your Dutch and I hope that the feed you decide to select produces many champions for you.

From Allan Gerhart:

We try and keep it simple when it comes to feeding our rabbits, and feed mainly pellets. We use Nutritional (Bunnets) 17% for does with litters and Jrs up to 3 months of age, and 15% for show rabbits, bucks, and idle does. We do give a little calf manna to does with litters, and sometimes hay or straw if we have a rabbit go off feed to get them eating again. But mostly we just feed pellets once a day usually in the evening.

From Sue Hill:

I feed two protein levels in my rabbitry but my Dutch are always on 18%. My Netherland Dwarfs are on 16% and I've had some Dutch on it as well, but I seem to get the best growth on my youngsters well into adulthood by being on the greater protein feed. Rarely do I have a rabbit that is overweight because I measure out their feed daily to the amount of 1/2 cup for a single rabbit. Does with litters are fed more according to the age of the litter. When I go to feed each evening, I want my rabbits at the front of their pens, looking for those pellets.

I also feed a good quality grassy hay quite often and really push it with animals that are molting or with a mom and a litter. A bale is stored in tall plastic garbage cans with wheels that I pull one down the aisle when I'm giving it to the bunnies. The nursing does and those with litters really like the hay addition to their diet and they get it just about every morning. I always pick out bales with grassy hay instead of alot of rich alfalfa based hay. Depending on where you live, a little investigating with people you know who raise horses or have a farm will point you towards someone with a good hay (such as Timothy). Hay cubes work best for some breeders that don't have the room to store hay. The cubes are nice to be able to bring to shows for a treat. Unfortunately, my rabbits like to throw them around their pens, and I end up having to clean up a soggy mess in the pens with crocks.

One of the interesting things about raising rabbits is finding out what others feed their herd. Some have a "secret" mix of conditioner, sunflower seeds, oats, and other goodies that they personally mix up. Others purchase one of the premixed conditioners available through most rabbit supply companies. The key is to think of it as a treat or conditioner and it shouldn't make up the base of the rabbit's diet. Warren Wiltman feeds a conditioner only at certain times during the season, but when he does, he feeds his pinch to each rabbit first thing while doing chores, and then goes back and starts feeding pellets. By that time, the conditioner is eaten and he's not dealing with bunnies digging out expensive feed to get to the goodies.

When I separate out babies, I make sure they have a sprinkling of the conditioner I use (which really seems to keep them eating well), and a handful of hay. They seem to adjust a bit better and stay eating. I haven't found the conditioner to be too hot for any age of rabbit so I am comfortable in using it liberally with my herd. I also bring some with me to each Nationals to try and keep them on their feed during that stressful time.

One of my favorite things to give rabbits is dandelions! They absolutely love them and I enjoy knowing they are getting a good fresh treat. Of course, if you are treating your lawn with a weed killer or fertilizer with a weed preventative in it, you don't want to be giving those dandelions to the rabbits. I have enough of them that grow in my yard and in my flower beds that I can harvest without that concern. I'll give a doe and her litter an entire plant, and enjoy just watching the yellow flower disappear as they crunch away. I've also dried them for winter and they go over well with the critters. Lettuce and spinach from our garden is a big hit in the summer. I personally stay away from iceberg lettuce and anything that produces gas with humans (broccoli, cauliflower, brussel sprouts). On occasion they get carrots but, more often, they get carrot tops. Again, the key is moderation.

You might find a need to change feeds to something that is bringing out the condition and coats you want in your rabbits. Feel free to talk with breeders that continually place well for their thoughts on their feeding routine. Become familiar with the code on the bag of feed located on the strip of paper that is sewn on the seam of each end. It should have a location and date marking so you can see how fresh your feed is. Usually the date is marked by the number day of the year it was milled. If you need help interpreting it, ask you feed dealer to show you. The major feed companies all have representatives (akin to your own directors) so feel free to call them for more information. Ask questions and in the end, you'll feel more comfortable knowing that what you chose to feed your rabbits will give you the results you are looking for.

From Kristy Hume:

The breeder I bought most of my initial stock from, Tom Dietrich, was a Purina Ambassador and recommended their feed and gave us some coupons. So I have been feeding Purina Rabbit Chow Complete Blend (the green bag) my entire time raising rabbits. The Complete Chow is 16% protein, and my rabbits seem to eat it well and I have been pleased with their condition. The one thing I would caution is to check the manufacturing date on the feed bags. Sometimes it sits at the store too long and loses quality. Before we began checking the dates, some old feed got into our barn and some of the rabbits lost condition. As far as feed goes, if something is working for you, don't change it! Consistency is the key. Other than that, our rabbits get a small handful of hay daily, and we like to give the young rabbits, mothers, and any rabbits under stress, a bit of oatmeal.

Breeder's question: What methods do you use to keep kits warm and alive when they are born in the dead of winter?

Judge's question: Even though the standard of perfection awards 25 points to type and 50 points to markings, when it comes down to your decision, would a poorly typed, but exceptionally well-marked Dutch beat an exceptionally-typed rabbit with a few marking flaws? And on the subject of markings, if two animals are equal in type, would a rabbit with a couple of minor marking flaws or one major flaw do better on the table?

Youth Representative

by Nathan Graybeal, District 1

Greetings. My name is Nathan Graybeal. I wanted to introduce myself as the youth representative from District 1. I am 15 years old and I attend 9th grade at Northern Lebanon High School. In addition to my interest in rabbits, I am on the high school baseball team. I play 1st, and 3rd base and pitch. I also play on a Jr. Legion team as well. I am also in the FFA at school. I show market hogs at our local county fair as well as our State Farm show. Judging livestock has become an interest of mine. I am on the Lebanon County Livestock judging team.

After high school, I hope to attend Penn State University and study Agri-Business. I am going to try and play baseball there and maybe someday, I will play for the Phillies baseball team. During the winter when I am not playing baseball, I want to keep showing rabbits.

I like raising rabbits because it is really fun. I keep about 50 Dutch in stacking cages in my dad's barn (see the picture).

Presently, I raise Blues and Torts but also have a few Blacks, Grays and Steels. I really like to figure out the color genetics of each rabbit I have in the barn. I also enjoy figuring out what varieties to breed to another to make a certain color. I especially like raising rabbits because it gives me something else that is fun and enjoyable to do.

I like showing rabbits because I get to see a lot of my friends at shows. And I get to meet new people and make new friends. Showing teaches me responsibility, honesty and sportsmanship. I also like when I get to miss going to school, so I can travel to shows.

That is just a little about me. You can email me at rabbitfarm@yahoo.com. I hope to see you at the shows, stop by; I'd love to talk Dutch with you. I plan to take my camera to the shows now and take lots of pictures. Unfortunately it is impossible to get to every show, so if you have something interesting to report just send it to me. Pictures would be great too.

Dutch are really hot in the Cheasepeake Bay region right now. The last weekend in March was the date for the Delmarva Open and Youth Double shows. In the youth, Dutch captured Best in Show in both show A and show B. Elizabeth Wiltshire, from Pa, won Show A with a wonderful Blue Dutch while Merissa Wells, from MD, captured show B with one of her great Black Dutch. In the open show, Billy Bounds from MD, captured Best in Show with a pretty Gray

Dutch. Rumbblings around the show tables (in our region) are that the Dutch are becoming the breed to beat for BIS. Way to go breeders, we are making our mark. Thank you Mrs. Wiltshire for sending me the report of this show. Dutch went three for four in the BIS competition that day (wish my batting average was that good! LOL).

Hi all. Hope everyone who attended NDS this year had a great time. I know I did. Thank you to everyone who volunteered to help and to those who made donations. Without everyone's support there would not be a national show. It is great to see everyone pulling together to make every show the best it can be. Congratulations to all the winners.

There were some really nice rabbits at nationals and it is time to breed again so that you have some nice juniors for Convention in October. Have a great summer!

Sue Hill

Candidate for President

I am formally declaring my intent to run for the office of President for the ADRC. My name is Sue Hill and am you current President after taking over for Kevin Hooper in April. I have been the ADRC Vice President since being appointed to the position five years ago. Throughout this time, I have had the opportunity to work with Kevin and the rest of the board, and have enjoyed doing so very much and now look forward to building on some ideas we have been working on, as well as bringing in some new ones.

I have had Dutch since 1975 when I was given a chocolate Dutch buck as a birthday gift. Even though he was poorly marked and had a rotten personality, he was, to me, the most beautiful creature behind welded wire on the planet. One day I saw a sale ad in the local paper for black Dutch. I bugged my dad for a black doe until he finally gave in and let me go see them. I ended up going home with two after the guy selling them had not sexed them properly, and, of course, the best of the litter was a buck. Soon afterwards, I attended my first show and was hooked. My herd endured my going to college and keeping just the bare bones for my line, to a substantial sized herd that it is today.

I was introduced to 4-H as a youngster and eventually it became a big part of my life. At age 16, I took over the rabbit project at a time when having rabbits in the backyard in town was still considered commonplace. We did Rabbit Fun Days, workshops throughout the year, and had work days before each fair getting plans together for how we would display the rabbits in our barn. I was able to work with the Parks Department to have money set aside for new pens when the fairgrounds moved, and involved the youth and the families in the rabbit (and poultry) projects to build the new bottoms needed to support the new pens. I still enjoy going back to the old fairgrounds and seeing the signs, barrels and show tables being used that I either helped build or paint designs on. What is perhaps most enjoyable for me is seeing kids I worked with in the Rabbit or Poultry project now involved with their own kids in the same manner I was.

In the past, I have been Secretary for the Winnebago County Fair Association, and am currently the President for the Blackhawk Country Netherland Dwarf Club here in Wisconsin. I belong to the ARBA, ANDRC, NMRRC, WSRBA, the local Mini Rex Club and another Dwarf Club in our area, as well as the Upper Midwest Dutch Club. While a member in the latter club, we have had the pleasure and honor of hosting three NDS's. I can appreciate the work local groups do to put on such a show and would like to work on guidelines for future groups to help walk them through the process involved in running a show of this magnitude.

I currently live in the county on 35 acres just southwest of Verona, WI with my non-rabbit raising husband, Joseph, and the last of my three children still in high school.

Between the two of us, we have six children scattered throughout the country. Many of you may remember my daughter, Emily, who was a fixture at the shows with me until she went off to college at UW-Eau Claire. When she left, I took over her Tort line, and now have Blacks, Blues, Torts and Grays but have raised all colors at one time or another. I also raise Mini Rex and Netherland Dwarfs but the Dutch club and people are my first and biggest love. Seeing my friends at the shows and at the NDS and ARBA Nationals each year is a highlight indeed.

I am a Registered Nurse at UW-Hospital and Clinics in Madison, WI and work in the Outpatient Surgery Center and another area that preps patients for larger surgeries such as transplants and other intense procedures. Although I love my job, I find my rabbits are what grounds me and gets me mentally back on track when there are especially trying days at the hospital.

I look forward to continuing to work with our club and feel it is important to listen to what the membership is asking for. I think it is important to get new ideas and input from our people and will encourage them to step forward to help as they can. I love working with kids and have some ideas to hopefully promote more youth involvement in their own clubs as they grow into adulthood as a Dutch member.

We are still working on transitions that have come about over the past four years but have seen a lot of progress during that time. Much is to be made yet and I hope to be able to help that continue as your President. I would very much appreciate your support at election time.

Thank you!

Sue Hill

Dennis Kline

Candidate for Director District 1

Hello,

My name is Dennis Kline and I would like to represent you as a Director of District 1. Barb, Megan and I live in the little farming town of New Riegel, in northwest Ohio. My interest in rabbits started when I was a child raising Checkered Giants, of all things! As the years passed, my interests changed and I met and married Barb in 1982. In 1987 Barb and I had are only child, Megan. As Megan grew and joined 4H, our family's interest in Dutch rabbits grew. Megan was very successful as a youth and open exhibitor, then, of course, came college. We then began to exhibit our rabbits as a family. I must say the Dutch people are the best and this is why I want to represent them. I want to give back to the club and the members who have helped us become as successful as we have been.

~ ~ Candidate Profiles ~ ~

Some of you may wonder if I should be a Director since Barb is Secretary/Treasurer. I can assure you that I will do what is best for the club on any issue whether I agree or disagree with my wife. I feel I have a lot to offer with my experience, knowledge and willingness to help whenever it is needed. I am currently the Vice-President of the Ohio State Dutch Rabbit Club, a position I have held for 3 years. I also hold 2 positions on ADRC committees which I will continue if I am elected a Director. In closing, I am asking for your support in the upcoming election.

Thanks,
Dennis Kline

Herb Six Candidate for Director District 2

Hello,

My name is Herb Six and I am running for the director's position for District 2 of the American Dutch Rabbit club.

I am from Sand Creek, Michigan, a small farming community in Southeastern Michigan.

Our family began our rabbit interest in 1999 when we started with a Tort Jr. doe as a 4-H project.

Our children began showing both 4-H and competitively in late 1999.

As the years passed our children's interest began to turn to other things as mine began to grow in the breeding and raising of the Dutch breed.

In 2005 I began showing in the open class.

Over the years our rabbitry has grown to over 65 holes and I show in all 6 colors.

I am a member of:

- American Rabbit Breeders Assoc.
- American Dutch Rabbit Club
- Michigan State Rabbit Breeders
- Michigan Dutch Rabbit Club
- Hoosier Dutch Rabbit Club
- Ohio State Dutch Club

I am presently a 4-H Superintendent for the Rabbit Barn at the Lenawee County Fair.

I am also a director for the Michigan Dutch Rabbit Club.

Over the years I have met and shown against many outstanding rabbits that were shown by many fine people. One of the best parts of showing Dutch rabbits is the breeders, and their willingness to share with others.

I feel that I can well represent the district with my knowledge and the love of the Dutch Rabbit.

Richard Gehr Candidate for Director District 2

I would like to submit my name for re-election to the position of District 2 Director of the ADRC.

Being a member of the ADRC since 1974, I have actively raised Dutch since that time. Serving on countless committees within the ADRC, as well as other Local, State, Specialty Clubs, and the ARBA has allowed me to see all aspects of the rabbit hobby.

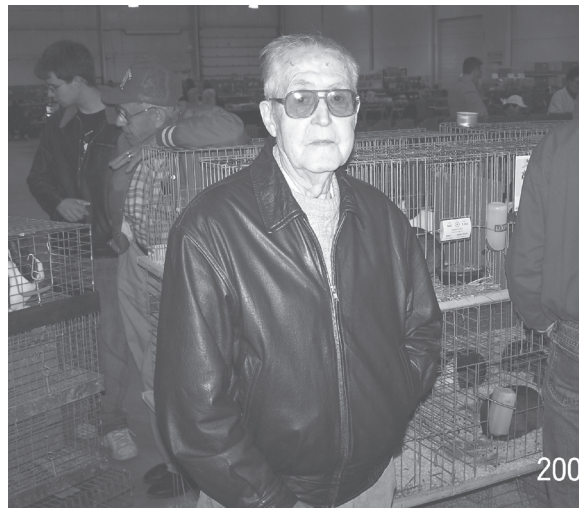

I have been involved in revising or completely rewriting Constitution and By-Laws for various clubs, am an active ARBA rabbit judge, and have acted in positions of sweepstakes, show rules, and other capacities which effect all club members. I'm also your current Dutch Reporter editor

As years go by, new generations, new ideas, and new programs develop. Progress is indeed exciting and something that is required in order to keep a club from becoming stagnant. However, I pride myself on being from the old school and evaluating a concept from every angle, and even playing Devil's Advocate on most occasions. I believe that regardless of the willingness to jump on a new "band wagon", no matter what type of project it is, often things are acted on due to emotion rather than logic. Taking the time to examine all facets of any new threshold is in the best interest of the organization and the membership.

I have experience, dedication, and a lifetime of loyalty that I wish to offer to the ADRC through active Board participation. I ask for your vote and support as Director of District 2.

Thank You.

Richard Gehr

The IDRC was very proud to have Oren Reynolds (102 yrs young) stop by to visit the NDS

Troy Ihrke Candidate for Director District 3

Hello.

My name is Troy Ihrke. I would like to be your district three director. I have been an ADRC member since 1994 and raising Dutch since 1992. I have been raising rabbits for 25 years. WOW, the years just fly by when your having fun! I am a past district two director. I am the current Cal State Dutch Rabbit Club President. I received my judges license June 2006. I was lucky enough to judge all the youth at the ARBA Convention in Michigan.

In this family, I am not the only one that has this passion. My wife Jill has been raising Dutch longer then me and also rabbits. She will be glad to tell you that too if you ask her that question OR she might just volunteer that information. Our new son, Aaron rides in the feed cart when I feed. He is too young to pick any rabbits out yet. Maybe next year or so.

All I want to do is give back to such a great hobby, breed, and club that we have. That is the main reason why I want to be your director. I will NOT think of myself when there are discussions or votes to be made. I will think about how this effects you and which direction you want to head in.

Anthony Campbell Candidate for Director District 3

My name is Anthony Campbell, and I am seeking your vote as a District 3 Director. My involvement with show rabbits began when my younger sister received a trio of mini rex about 11 years ago. After a few months I couldn't stand it and had to get some of my own. That is when I met Sharon Mutal and received my very first trio of rabbits, dutch! In about a years period we expanded to include about 40 holes, having dutch and mini rex. As the years went on I experimented with a number of different breeds but kept the dutch throughout, ultimately increasing to about 80 holes.

From the age of 9 I have been very active in 4-H, showing all species including cattle, hogs, poultry and rabbits. During my senior years of 4-H I was the President of my club as well as a youth leader for both poultry and rabbits. At the same time I was also very active in the AZ Dutch Rabbit Club and showed at a number of ARBA sanctioned shows in Arizona, California and Colorado. During my later years of high school, my sister's focus changed and it became too much for me to handle all the rabbits, and I had to cut way down. At that time I was also planning on leaving for college and didn't think I would still be involved until I was finished with school. After leaving for college I was able to get involved in dutch rabbits again, thanks to Jill Pfaff (she lets me keep them at her house!). For the past 3 years I have been actively showing dutch in the Northwest. My primary color of choice has been in steels. This past April, I was able to attend my first NDS and can't wait to return next year.

I feel that I have all of the necessary requirements to be an effective director in the American Dutch Rabbit Club. I have served as an officer in many different organizations at Oregon State University. I also actively help at 4-H functions whenever possible. I am also currently a director in the Western States Dutch Fanciers. This coming December I will be finishing my bachelors degree in Animal Science at OSU and plan on returning to Arizona. I feel that this will allow for better distribution of directors and ultimately a better representation of the entire district.

I feel that I have lots to offer and just need the opportunity to prove that, to this district as well as the ADRC. My activity in other species organizations as well as other rabbit breeds has allowed me to observe changes, both positive and negative. I think that through these experiences I will be able to benefit all those involved. I ask for your support in electing me as one of your District 3 Directors.

Sincerely,
Anthony Campbell

Winning Best Dutch with a Love Her/Hate Her Brood doe

By Kevin Hooper

This year I was fortunate enough to have the Dutch which was awarded the top honors at our National Dutch Show. However, she was only a brood doe! (I'm not being cocky, so read on.)

Before I get into the meat of this story, I must first thank a couple of people, or not only would this win have not been possible, not even this show for me. The winning doe was out of a gray buck I raised, but I had sold to Denny and Barb Kline the last time the NDS was in Wisconsin. We have been swapping the buck for the past year after the brother to this gray buck I had kept was sterile. So, many thanks to the Klines!

Then there was the issue of getting to the NDS. As most of you know, I skipped this years NDS due to the fact my wife and I were expecting our second child. (The due date is today, and still no baby.) I was not comfortable being that far away when we had had some complications with our first child. So, how would I get my Dutch to the show?

Rick Billups, along with his wife Julie, and daughter Rachel were generous enough to not only haul my animals, but to care for them at the show! Many thanks, for the work and care you provided!

Going into the show, I thought I had a chance to win two Sr Buck classes, and four Sr Doe classes. Both of the Sr bucks placed, while three of the senior does won their class! The one doe who failed to win her class, my black senior doe, had been on and off feed for the previous few weeks, and she was placed down for that very reason.

Of the other three I thought had a chance to win their class, I had a nice steel doe, a nice tort doe, and a nice gray doe.

The Steel doe had done very well the first three shows in '07, winning Best out of about 110, 98, and 170. She then blew her coat just before the '07 NDS, and placed second. This year, she was very open in her coat at entry time, but came into her new coat very quickly! I was not sure how she would do beyond her class, as I knew there were many raising nice steels lately? She managed to win Best Steel! (She had lost her litter the first part of March - or she would not have been there!)

My favorite going into the show, and still is, was my tort sr doe. She had not been to one of the big shows before, had just turned senior, and was too young to make the trip last fall. I had been watching this doe for a while as she has balance not only to her markings, but what I believe is the perfect length and depth to her body, and great Dutch type! She was also my helpful in the fur class! It has been a really long time since I was excited about the chances of one of my torts in the fur class, let alone the chances in the whole show! She did win her class, and went on to win her variety!

Lastly, was my gray senior doe. She has been a love her, or hate her type of doe by the judges. I first showed this doe the third weekend of September last year when she was 11 weeks old. She had matured well for that age. The first showing that day, she was about 7th out of 10. I thought she would do much better than that, but sometimes, she was not one who liked to sit. Then, in the second show, she won Best Dutch, and followed that with Best In Show! Would she mature enough to win at the upcoming ARBA Convention only three weeks away?

Well, her growth slowed as she was off feed a bit after that show, but then she started coming into condition right before the Convention. She was still a young doe at only 3 ½ months old! She won her class at the Convention, and was selected Best Gray. How far would she go? The voting was done, and she received votes from two of the three for Best Dutch, but not nearly enough to be in the running for BOB. One judge, gave her no votes? Remember - love or hate her!

The only other show she went to last fall was our Ohio Dutch fall show. Always good numbers and great quality, how would the doe due? Well the gray junior doe class came up, and she was 7th out of 8! The judge did not like her at all. Love or hate!

Now she was growing and it came time that she hit six months of age. Should I breed her or hold her off for the NDS, which was still almost four months away? Well, I looked at her, and wow, I was now on the hate side! She had grown, but where was her midsection, why did her hips stick out on the sides, and why was she potty in her belly? She still had a great coat and color, but with these faults, I figured I would just breed her and see if she could produce anything. I really thought she was brood only from now on.

She missed, the first time I bred her, then the second time, then the third time. By now it was mid February! I thought she looked a little better, but her belly was still a little potty. I did not get anything bred then due to the fact work was busy, so I was not in the barn. Then, I had a show to attend the first weekend in March. I looked at her, and she was looking pretty good. She won her class both times, but that was all.

Prior to the show, I was grooming my animals, and she was the last one I worked. She was in good condition, but had a big bunch of matted hair on her tail. She was sitting great on the table and looking good, but I had to clean up that tail! I managed to get a good bit off, but when I worked it she did not sit!! How much should I push to clean that tail? The second and only other time I had her out was Thursday before the show - looked good, but that tail! Same result, I removed more dead fur, and tried to clean the stain. Although it looked better, she did not like me messing with it!! Would this cause her not to sit at the show?

The Gray Sr doe was judged. My doe won the class! Loved her!

The Best of Breed balloting was done - the Gray doe had three out of four votes for first place! She won! Loved her!

Now, the lost interesting part of this - the judged that hated (or did not like her) at the ARBA Convention - Scott Williamson, and the judge that did not like her at the fall Ohio Dutch show - Glen Carr - two of the three judges who voted her first place! Love her or hate her, but remember I had relegated her to brood doe status!

Youth BOB & BOS 2008 NDS by Marissa Wells

I am Marissa Wells, I am 11 years old and I started showing Dutch rabbits in May of 2007. I got my first rabbit given to me by Stacy Sauter, it was a blue buck. Billy Bounds was nice and gave me two greys. Aaron Martin was kind enough to give me two blues. In July, I made a trip to Ohio with my dad and visited Kevin Hooper, Dennis & Barb Kline and Todd Uran. They sold me some of my first rabbits. I started going to some shows and then started breeding in hopes of having some nice juniors for Nationals the following spring. I had many litters of rabbits in that year and I sorted out the ones that I liked the best. In the beginning of 2008 I started going to some shows with some of my offspring that I had bred and raised. My black, jr. doe, who I tattooed (MWAR) won Best in Show at her very first show. MWAR stands for "Marissa Wells Amazing Rabbit!" She won BOB at her next show as well as Best in Show. I was quite shocked.

I call my jr. doe, Daffodil, she is really very friendly and my favorite rabbit. I have her 1/2 brother, Jupiter (MW9B) which stands for Marissa Wells 9th Black. He had a show where he was named best Black, even beating Daffodil, which surprised me. I took them both to Nationals in Illinois, along with 16 of my other rabbits. I had pretty good success at the National show. Daffodil won her class of 23 jr. black does and won Best jr. Black overall and Best Black overall. Jupiter won his class of 20 jr. black bucks and won best Opposite Black. Some of my other rabbits also did quite well. MW6G won Best Jr. Grey. MW1S won Best Jr. Steel. I was proud because they were all my breeding. The highlight of the weekend was Daffodil winning Best of Breed and Jupiter winning Best Opposite of Breed!! I had a great experience for my first National Dutch Show. I am excited for convention. I would like to thank everyone who helped me to get my rabbitry started and all the youth participants who helped me in my first year. I would also like to thank my parents for helping me and supporting me all this time.

Statement from Dr. Chris Hayhow for the Dutch Reporter

Judging at a National Dutch Show is one of the most exciting privileges an ARBA judge can have. Everyone attending the show is always enthusiastic and friendly. There are no exhibitors at any show more passionate about their breed than Dutch breeders. I truly appreciated the opportunity to attend the show and see all of my friends as well as all of the fantastic rabbits. This year the show topped all expectations. The set-up was fantastic. I just wish the weather could have cooperated more.

The classes I judged were Black Senior Does, Blue Senior Bucks, Chocolate Junior Does, Steel Senior Does, Tortoise Junior Bucks, and Gray Senior Bucks. Our Dutch continue to improve as a breed due to the ongoing efforts of you the outstanding breeders. There were only a handful of animals that did not have good type. The heads on most of the animals were fantastic. The top 12 Black Senior Does and top 10 Gray Senior Bucks were a joy to handle. The animals at the top of each class were very well marked. Unfortunately, some of the better animals were not quite finished in coat and color, which prevented them from competing for Best of Breed.

The only recommendation I have is for the Steel and Gray breeders to keep working on color as there was a vast difference in color in these varieties. As a class the Chocolate Junior Does were the deepest class I judged and it was great to see the tremendous improvement in depth of the class compared to some in the past. Those of you that do not raise Chocolates better be ready for some stiff competition for best of breed in the next few years as these breeders are serious!

The new process for picking specials was different for everyone. I think the judges were all a little apprehensive when it started. However, when all the rabbits on the table for specials are very nice it makes for a fun job. I want to congratulate everyone that exhibited at the show. The owners of the Gray Senior Doe and Black Junior Buck deserve special recognition; however, to each of the class winners I salute you!

Finally, congratulations and thank you for everyone that contributed to making the show a success. The writers and rabbit carriers were dedicated, organized and courteous. I hope to get the opportunity to judge the show again in the future.

Chris Hayhow, DVM, Ph.D.

I first judged the National Dutch Show in 1968 held in Wilmington, Ohio. I was honored to judge the youth Dutch. There were 71 entries. I was so honored that I charged no fee! Gas was cheap in those days. Since that time I have had the pleasure of judging eleven more National Dutch Shows, the latest being the 2008 show held this past April in Bloomington, Illinois. I'm pretty sure having judged at 12 Nationals shows is a record for any one judge. I'm not boasting, I'm just sincerely grateful for having these opportunities to judge this wonderful breed. Maybe a little bit though.

This recent National Dutch Show was certainly up to the usual high standards of a national show. The facility, the host club, the banquet, the awards, the competition, and the fellowship, all contributed to a very successful, memorable show. The weather didn't cooperate but no one cared!

I had the pleasure of judging six classes. I was very pleased that both the BOB, Gray senior doe, and the BOS, Black junior buck, were from the classes I judged. My most difficult class was the Gray senior does. I don't recall the exact number in the class, perhaps 40 or so. The top 25 or so had really nice bodies and I was having to nit pick at minor marking faults. The top five were superb. The BOB Gray doe had a well balanced body, sharply marked, excellent color, and a prime coat which I think made the difference in the final decision by the voting judges. She was almost a unanimous choice, being second choice on only one voting card. She was a beautiful representative of the breed.

There were very nice animals in all of the six classes I judged. I handled very few animals that I felt were not deserving of being shown at such a high level as the national show.

I have great respect for the ADRC and for the continued success of the Dutch breed over all the years I've been in the rabbit hobby. I sincerely thank everyone for the opportunity of judging the Dutch. I hope I'll be chosen and able to judge many more future national Dutch shows.

Glen Carr

Dear American Dutch Rabbit Club members,

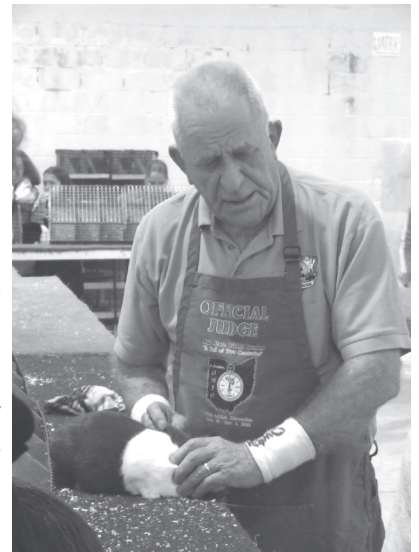

It was an honor and a pleasure to judge the National Dutch Show in Bloomington recently. I thoroughly enjoyed it, but my work was cut out for me.

The show was very well run and the judging went very smoothly. That young man, Andrew Craig, did an outstanding job as Superintendent. I do not know the name of the lady who wrote for me, but she did such a good job. You don't realize how much easier it makes the job of judging such big classes when everything is being taken care of by people like them. I don't want to forget to mention the exhibitors. They did their job also and even though I don't know many of your names, I thoroughly enjoyed judging your rabbits. The quality of the rabbits was outstanding. The Black Junior Doe class was really a challenge, and I felt the little junior doe I picked was such a nice little bunny. As she matures, I'm sure she will win some Best of Breeds.

Again, many thanks for having me as one of your judges.

You Can't Beat The Dutch

2008 National Dutch Show

Bloomington, IL

Hosted by: The Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club

April 12-13

Wow, what a show!

First, let me congratulate the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club for sponsoring another excellent National Dutch Show. Norma Hart and Dick Gehr are seasoned veterans, along with Gary Mohr, who shared all their years of experience with the next generation of Illinois Dutch enthusiasts.

I was honored when I received a call from Dick Gehr to invite me to judge the 2008 National Dutch Show. Most of you know that I have roots in the Midwest, growing up in Indiana and going to graduate school in Illinois. One of my favorite National Dutch Show memories is the 1981 NDS held in Champaign-Urbana, IL at the Livestock Pavilion. Many of the Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club members who helped sponsor that show are no longer with us. But the two mainstays of that NDS were back once more to sponsor another outstanding show - Norma Hart and Dick Gehr. Norma and Dick were able to accomplish something unprecedented at any NDS, they had the complete show report available for each exhibitor by checkout time on Sunday.

Now, I dug through my Dutch Reporter files and retrieved the May-June, 1981 edition to check numbers and comments. Well, 418 Open Dutch and 82 Youth Dutch were exhibited at the 1981 NDS. Listed below are the open and youth winners:

OPEN: BOB - Lester & Louise Johnson, Kansas
Black Senior Buck

BOS - Myrl Milhahn, Michigan
Tortoise Senior Doe

Judges: Mr. Glen Carr, OH & Mr. Larry Bengtson, MN

YOUTH: BOB - Lori Ann Snodgrass, Illinois
Steel Senior Doe
Tina Glanzman, Illinois
Black Junior Buck

Judge: Mr. Oren Reynolds, ILLINOIS

Two of the three 1981 NDS judges were with us again, Glen (judging) and Oren (honorary member). Larry is no longer with us, but I know he was guiding his son, Erik's hand while he judged half the youth entry. I know Larry would be proud of the judge his son, Erik has become. So it's reasonable to say that the show officials and the judges from the 1981 NDS were represented 27 years later in Bloomington-Normal. Now, that's history!

I enjoyed judging the entry and was very fortunate to have the quality table help that made my job much more efficient and comfortable. Special thanks to the Przybylowicz and the Humes as well as all the other Dutch breeders who helped so faithfully at my table.

The Tortoise Senior Doe class was very deep. Strong winners in the Blue Junior Doe and Gray Junior Doe classes. The top end of the Black Senior Bucks and Steel Senior Bucks were very typey. The Chocolate Junior Buck class was fun to judge and presented me with a lesson in color and type. The fun really began when all four of us got together to evaluate the various varieties. I have always been humbled and honored to work with Mr. Glen Carr, add to the mix Dr. Chris Hayhow, our ARBA President and my good friend, Marv Wunderlin; we probably had over 125 years of judging experience behind the table. I had a great time working with these gentlemen and I can honestly say that every class winner represented the Dutch breed very well.

On to the winners: Congratulations to Kevin Hooper who did it again with a very typey Gray Senior Doe while Fred & Kathy Mullinax captured Best Opposite with a very nice Black Junior Buck. Glen picked them both in class, the master still has the magic!

Every exhibitor, who participated at the 2008 NDS, and/or sponsored the event should hold their heads high. Great Dutch and a Great Time, filled with so many precious memories. I remember the many years of Dutch history and friends; new, old and lost who have been so instrumental in helping our Dutch hobby grow...

ADRC Scholarship Recipients

Katie Bickelhaupt

My name is Katie Bickelhaupt and I was one of the fortunate recipients of the 2008 American Dutch Rabbit Club scholarship. I live in Medina, Ohio and am currently completing my sophomore year at the University of Findlay in Findlay, Ohio. I am double majoring in Pre-Veterinary Medicine and Biology with plans to graduate with honors. It is my goal to be accepted into a vet school and pursue a career as a veterinarian, specializing in companion and exotic animals.

Animals have always been in my life, and raising Dutch rabbits has been my favorite hobby. The first rabbit I ever owned was a Mini Rex named Velvet. I was nine years old and he was my first 4-H project. Unfortunately, Velvet was not the best Mini Rex show specimen so my mom and I decided to start attending county shows to see what showing was all about.

Through these shows I've met and become friends with many fantastic rabbit breeders. The Dutch have remained my passion since I purchased my first pair from the Bogans in 1997. My herd only consists of about 25 Dutch, but it is surely enough to enjoy within city limits!

Up until I turned 19 I was an active 4-H member and participant in youth royalty and showmanship competitions. I believe that these activities have exposed me to a variety of life experiences. Preparing yourself to present your knowledge in front of a rabbit showmanship or royalty judge is actually quite similar to sitting in front of a group of people for scholarships and job interviews. Filling out royalty applications may be tedious but it helped me sharpen my writing skills! The more I learn about Dutch, the more I appreciate them. (Too bad I can't apply the same concept to chemistry!) My biggest recommendations to youth breeders is to ask questions and listen to what judges and experienced breeders have to say. Participate in as many 4-H and royalty opportunities as possible and have fun!

Of course there is no way I would have been able to take care of all of those rabbits, drive to all those shows, and iron my white lab coat all by myself! My mom has been my greatest support through my eleven years worth of rabbit raising. If you ask her she'll probably say something like "I don't know anything about these Dutch, I just drive and do my best to keep them healthy!" In reality, I couldn't do it without her.

Half the reason we go to the shows is to have fun and chat with other breeders. The Ohio breeders in particular are a wonderful group of people and I have enjoyed many shows with them. Without a helping hand from several breeders I probably would have lost interest in rabbits altogether and headed down a completely different road with my life (I'm serious!). Kevin Hooper has been the backbone in my herd and continues to be one of the first people I seek when I have a question about Dutch. Some of my first Dutch came from Dan Nixon, the Hessicks and Jay Imes so to them I owe a "thank you". For those of you who have sold me a Dutch and for those of you who have bought my Dutch- Thanks! Without selling something you can't buy anything, a sad truth but thanks to everyone that has kept my cycle flowing.

In closing, I'd like to thank the American Dutch Rabbit Club and the Scholarship committee for selecting me as a recipient for this year's Dutch Scholarship. It is truly an honor and I am excited to have received it. I look forward to seeing everyone at the shows- You can't beat

Cody Lape

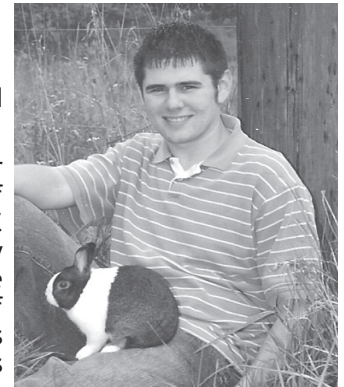

Dear ADRC Scholarship Committee and members,

Thank you so much for allowing me to be one of the recipients of the ADRC scholarship award. I only wish I could have been at the National Show this year to of received it but to obligations to school and work I was unfortunately not able to.

For those who do not know me my name is Cody Lape and this upcoming fall I will be a sophomore at James A. Rhodes State College in Lima, Ohio. There I am majoring in Global Information Systems Technology were I am planning to graduate in 2009 with an Associate's Degree. With this career I have already figured out that it is going to be challenging. For which this career deals a lot with data collections and also being able to make maps out of the data collected. After achieving my Associate's Degree I am planning on keep going on with my education and pursuing a Bachelor's degree at Bowling Green University and also a possible State Job as the GIS Engineer. Again I am truly honored to have achieved this award. With this award it will tremendously help me out in achieving my goals and education.

I would also like to again to give a thank you to the ADRC scholarship selection committee for selecting me as one of the recipients of the ADRC scholarship award. There are also many other people that I would like to give a thank you to but since the list is so long I would just like to thank all the Dutch Breeders, judges, and just all breeders in which I have had a chance to show with. For these people are the ones that has given me that fun and educational experience and also their knowledge of raising rabbits. Last but not least, I would like to give a big thank you to my parents and brother, Phil, Sara, and Danny, for they have supported me throughout the years and without their support I would never be where I am today, they have also been there to take care of the rabbits, which we have raised together, while I am not around but at college or work.

Again thank you for all the support and also this wonderful award.

DR Editor Report

by Dick Gehr

Hi all,

Another issue of the DR, and this one has a lot of material from the 2008 NDS in Bloomington. I have tried to include as many pictures as I could, and hope they all show what a great time we had in Illinois. I had a couple of articles that could not be included in this issue due to the page count, however they will appear in the next issue.

They say "pictures are worth a thousand words" and we all like to see good pics in the DR. So, if you have a special win or a good article that you would like published, send it on and try to include a picture to go with it. Our printer has been doing a super job with the quality of the magazine, and the pictures seem to be coming out very good. Let's take advantage of that service.

I wish to Thank those that send in articles on a regular basis, so the magazine is not just sweepstakes and show reports. Julie Hume does an excellent job with supplying us with materials, and she should be commended for all her efforts. Thanks, Julie. Keep those articles coming!

Please feel free to contact me at any time you may have a question, concern, or idea for the Dutch reporter. You can drop me an email at rwgehr@cbcast.com.

Hope you enjoy this issue!

If you haven't yet received your ADRC sanction numbers for an upcoming show, please first check with the individual who actually sent for the sanctions to make certain as to when they applied for them. Unfortunately, I am finding more and more that one individual applies for the sanction, but someone else might then email only a week or so later to ask why they haven't yet received their numbers. What usually happens here is that those checking on the sanction status might have been told that they were sent for a month or two ago, when in fact, they were only sent for a week or so before. This happens much too frequent making it appear as though some simply don't want to say that they only just applied for the sanction after their original intent to send the request in a month or so before. I keep the original envelope that clearly shows the postmark date of the request, plus my files not only show the day it was received here, but the check number used in payment. This usually makes it easy to determine what or who may have created any delay in receipt of their numbers.

This issue of the DR includes 154 show reports. If you feel that there is an err in a listed report, please don't hesitate to contact us here. Since I haven't yet found the ability to part any water anywhere, I'm simply going to have to admit to making some mistakes. I've also found mistakes on the submitted report itself, as well as the exhibitor sometimes being in err in their thought. So, should you have any questions, please ask, but be sure to include any information that you can on the particular show. You might also want to remember that if a show is NOT YET listed, any points you may have earned there have not yet been included in the standings posted.

As always, I wish each of you a terrific "Dutch" show season, and many "Best In Show" wins.

From the Sweepstakes Chair

by Norma Hart

Welcome to Spring Everyone!!

It was a pleasure seeing so many of you at the 2008 NDS in Illinois, and also getting to visit just a bit with those that I haven't seen since Grand Rapids or before. I especially enjoyed meeting so many that I have only had the opportunity to visit with via written correspondence. This is always an added treat for anyone! The 2008 NDS was very well represented with both Dutch exhibits and exhibitors, and I want to extend my early best wishes for the same great turnout for the Kansas group in 2009! Please support them in any way possible!

Now, I'd like to take just a minute to discuss the processing of those sanctions received here. I want to emphasize that I will gladly accept late requests for ADRC sanctions provided that they arrive here noting a postmark date PRIOR to the date of the actual show. I will not issue a sanction for any show that has already been held. Individuals requesting that a show be sanctioned MUST have the permission of the show sponsor before this can be done. If you want to sanction Dutch at an upcoming show, you must first contact the show sponsor and receive their approval. All ADRC sanctions are then issued to the show's secretary, as this is the individual who will complete and return the report at the show's completion. Sanctions will not be issued if the required sanction fees and the ARBA numbers are not provided along with the request.

Winter will be here before we know it. Let's hear from everyone with your tips and secrets for getting your rabbits through the cold months.

We are looking for good pictures to use in the Dutch Reporter. Please submit any Dutch related pictures for possible use in the upcoming issues. Pictures can be submitted electronically by emailing them to rwgehr@cbcast.com, or by sending regular snapshot photos to Richard Gehr (address on page 1).

Not all photos can be used, and if you wish to have a photo returned to you, please indicate so when sending it.

The sweepstakes points as reorted in the last issue of the DR were the finals for the 2007 Sweepstakes Year. We wish to congratulate all of the winners, and everyone that competed in the sweepstakes by exhibiting just 1 Dutch rabbit throughout the year. Without your support of thre Dutch breed, we would not be one of the most dominating breeds recognized in today's hobby. CONGRATULATIONS, ALL !!!!!

Below are the Best In Show, Best Reserve In Show, and Best 4 Class winners for the shows listed.
