MORE ADS NEEDED

by Stan Goeglein

With June coming upon us quickly the time for the "All Dutch Small Stock Magazine" will be here before we realize it. As of this writing the ads are coming in very slowly. We are all looking forward to this issue of Small Stock for we anticipate reading the good articles and looking at the pictures of some top-notch Dutch.

However, for all of this to come about the ads from all of you loyal Dutch Breeders MUST be present. For a price of $2.10 per cut you can send a photo of your Dutch to run with your ad. So, come on, Dutch Breeders -- let's fill out this breeders ad form and sent it in. Remember your ad will be seen for years to come -- no one ever throws away a "Special Dutch Issue of Small Stock".

This is one magazine that Dutch Breeders hold on to for future reference and as a collectors item. So let's get behind this project and send your ads, clear photos of that good Dutch, and your articles to me as soon as possible for April 15, 1966 is the deadline. Send to: Stan Goeglein; 6914 Autumn View Dr., Fort Wayne, Ind. 46806.

A BREEDING METHOD FOR THE SMALL BREEDER

by Al Meier, Jr.

(This article first appeared in the Special Dutch Issue of Small Stock Magazine for June 1961 and one of our members has requested that it be repeated.)

This article is intended primarily for the fancier with limited facilities who, quite possibly, wants to distinguish himself as a Dutch breeder rather than a Dutch "raiser".

The system of breeding Dutch as outlined in the following paragraphs is, I think you will find, contrary to some of the more common bits of advice tossed out from time to time. The ultimate goal is to produce a maximum number of show-quality animals from a few does. If you want to be merely a raiser of Dutch, you can obtain a bunch of mis-marked does, turn them loose in a barn with a buck and, from time to time, as months pass, open the door and pick out a couple for the coming show. This is not any more absurd than the advice most freely given: select animals with good type and color, and the markings will take care of themselves. This will, in time give you a fine collection of good-typed, good-colored junk. If good type and color can be maintained, or improved by selection, why then cannot the variables within the markings be

SELECT FOR MARKINGS: My system of breeding is to select for markings, thereby not putting more variables into my breeding than already exist. How many variables in type could you possibly have other than a tendency to ranginess or flatness? The hybrid of the two closely approximates good type. The number of deviations from good head markings alone more than out-weigh these two extremes of type. Poor head markings can have any of the following faults: blunt blaze, rough blaze, houglass blaze, narrow or broad blazes, high cheeks, low cheeks, odd cheeks, square cheeks, wavy cheeks, angular cheeks, hooks and drags, and full necks and dirty necks. This is quite an impressive list, and yet many breeders ignore them, hoping that by selecting for type and color, the genes controlling all these little variables are going to get lost someplace during gestation.

Before toing into explaining what to buy, I'd like to say a few words on from whom to buy. (These remarks are aimed at potential breeders of Blacks and Blues, as these are my only interest from a breeding standpoint.) My advice is to buy from a color specialist, or at least from a breeder who keeps his colors pure if he raises all the colors -- this is something difficult to be sure of because of the temptation to keep that good show specimen no matter what his breeding.

Blacks and Blues are compatible crosses, but I can see no advantage in Blue blood in Blacks, although a Black cross can be beneficial in Blue breeding, but only if the color seems to be diluting too much.

HOW TO START: Now finally as to how to start:

No matter how much you have to invest, allot 60% of it for the purchase of the most outstanding buck you can find. He should have the very best cheeks and stops procurable -- don't make any concessions on this, don't buy the best buck you happen to see on a give day just because this is the day you decided to go out and buy a buck. Horse breeding farms buy mares to suit an outstanding stallion, not a stallion to suit the mares they happen to have gotten a good buy on. Look over the breeder's other stock and note if these qualities seem to be general through out the majority of his animals. (The guy might have gotten him by opening that barn door mentioned a few paragraphs back.)

In addition to the outstanding cheeks and stops, the more other good markings you can combine on the same animal the better (don't necessarily look for the perfect animal -- he's always the one that died in the nest box!).

I would buy one doe from the breeder of the buck, and would pick up two more does from two different breeders of good typical stock. The reason for doing this is to give myself a little better chance of making a click. These does should have at least good, well-shaped cheeks.

The four best young does are saved from these matings and retained for breeders, only one of which should be retained from the doe of the same line as the buck -- the other three must be better than their dams. The old does are then disposed of and the young does are bred back to their sire. The three best young does of these matings are retained along with the best-producing doe of the dams; if a good young buck is produced in the litters, he is also retained for breeding to these four nucleus does. If a good young buck is produced, now is the time to recover some of your investment in the old buck. Linebreeding is now at an end and from now on the program is one of inbreeding. In the event no outstanding young buck is produced, you can linebreed one more time and then save best young buck produced, along with the four best does.

From here on, the program calls for nothing but strict selection for the complete Dutch. I personally never retain anything that will not at least register, and nothing is kept that has poor type.

You may have gathered by now that the whole basis of such a program is in rigid culling and the gradual elimination of as many variations from marking faults as possible. A point to remember about all markings is that the shape of the markings is of primary importance and not the amount of coverage. In a choice between heavier, well-shaped markings and lightly marked animals, the choice is always with the heavier.

The mention of shape in markings reminds me of a thought I have had for some time; that is, the word "type" in the Standard would better be replaced by "shape". This might stop judges from judging for type as if they were selecting cantaloupes.

YOU CAN'T BEAT THE DUTCH

IT COULDN'T BE TRUE

by Johnny Baker

Is it possible, Dutch Fanciers, that Tom Shufflebotham is no longer a Director of the American Dutch Rabbit Club?

If it is so, I can only doubt what lies ahead for our fine club and even more for the finest animal that was ever originated. I have probably fought more in the past thirty years with this man than all the other Fanciers have put together. But, I will now and here say, you will never find a more dedicated Dutch Breeder or a man who is as devoted to it's breed or club than any person I know. He proved this, we must all admit.

You people who are fortunate enough to have known old H. C. "Gillie" Gilbert personally and know how I have always felt toward this man will find it hard to believe my saying this. Even "Gillie" couldn't match Tom Shufflebotham as far as the Dutch Rabbit is concerned. For me to ever say this (which I hoped I'd never see the day I had to) is really hard. But I must do as old Gillie taught me to do, -- "be honest and always say what you really think." Well, Gillie old boy! I said it and I know if you were still with us folks you'd really be able to say it much better than I have because you always said, "Tom Shufflebotham is as good a Dutch Fancier as you'll ever find." Also, the man you would rather have judge your Dutch.

For you people who never knew Gillie Gilbert, I would like to say he knew, and knew very well, Fanciers such as Charles O. Lewis, Capron, the Strictland brothers, Charlie Williams, Dewey Mains, Jimmy Blyth, George Bayliss and Dr. Hart. These are only a few, but some that are still with us and others you have read about.

I personally hope, that who was elected over Tom will not take this article as criticism to them. I am only trying to have our membership put more thought into club affairs when the next election rolls around.

I don't feel we need, and I hope we never come to the time, where a candidate has to make television appearances politicizing to become elected. I feel when you have a Fancier and a true Fancier that has worked so hard in putting out a Guide Book which we have, for being a director for so long and a director who did so much for our Dutch Club and also a man who is TOPS OF ALL DUTCH BREEDERS TODAY proves to all of us he is the man we need for any office. I hope we find a place on the next ballot where he so rightly belongs. I wish all the new officers for 1966 the best of luck with our club affairs which are so great today indeed.

Thank you.

Kansas State Dutch Rabbit Club: Just a small item on the Kansas State Dutch Club.

We had our first all Dutch show in Kansas on Feb. 13, 1966. It was held at Newton, Kansas. There were 74 Dutch will all colors being shown. The good Dutch breeders from Oklahoma came up on a Sunday to show with us. Joe Crawford of Kansas City, Mo. made the placings, and did a good job of it. Best of Breed went to Chet Roberts with that good steel Doe that took Best Opposite Sex at the National. She seems to stay in shape all the time. Best Opposite Sex went to Bob Ernst. It was a nice first show. We hope to see you all at Texas for the National Dutch Show.

SECRETARY'S CHIT CHAT

by J. Weinhardt

First and most important, I would like to urge everyone of you who possibly can to use the enclosed blank and send at least a $5.00 ad to Stan Goeglein for the Special Dutch Issue of Small Stock. Maybe you don't have any stock for sale or don't want to be bothered with correspondence, can't you at least say "Thanks, Stan for a job well done?" You've no idea how hard he has worked on this project. He has a wealth of fine readin' material for it but how much of that good stuff he can put in depends on how strongly those of us who can't, or won't take the time to write an article, lay out that "long green" for advertising. It is going to take a whale of a lot of $5.00 ads to compensate for one page of good, educational material. Send Stan that ad today. You'll never know the difference by this time next year anyway and I don't think there is a single one of us who has figured out anyway to take his money with him when he dies so why not spend it in a good cause -- one that will give you a glow of pleasure every time you pick up that special issue to re-read that outstanding article that seems to say something new at every reading.

This past week we attended the Michigan State Show at East Lansing and what a fine showing of Dutch there were! I think the final count was 139 with 38 Tortoise and 34 Blues. It was sure good to see G. A. Burke handling rabbits again. This was his first show since suffering a slight heart attack (his second) in December. He looked and acted real fine and I wouldn't doubt he will be in there picking the good ones for a long time to come. It is a real disappointment that he will not be able to judge at Amarillo next month. Don't know who the second judge will be at this writing. Mrs. O'Dell wrote me that she had written Jimmy Blyth (the third choice of the ADRC), but had not heard from him.

To go back to our State Show -- you know we decided here a while back that we had just too many trophies kicking around gathering dust so rather than leave them for our grandchildren to play with and break up after we are through with them, we would donate them to some of the shows so we could see someone else enjoy them. We put one of our nicest ones up for Best Dutch at this show -- so who won it? You guessed it, Weinhardts! This was with the same little blue buck that was Best Blue at Indianapolis last December. I must tell you he was given a real close race by a little black junior doe belonging to our good friends, Coopers. I'm sure they were convinced that I had been taking that rabbit in the house and playing with him all day long because he insisted on sitting right up there in a perfect pose every single minute (just between you and me, I think that was the only edge he had over the little doe which was a bit frightened and scrunched down). Anyway, it was a good show, darkened somewhat for a great many of us by the news that the former secretary of the ADRC was being laid to rest just at the time we were judging the Dutch. Many of you remember Madeleine Grables and will be saddened to hear that she is no longer with us. She had suffered from cancer for much too long a time. This time she had been in the hospital since sometime in January. I feel sure that all of you join me in extending the Club's deepest sympathy to Ray, her daughter and family and Ray's son and his family. We know how much she will be missed.

To switch to a happier note: I had a note from Chas. O. Lewis this morning telling me that he is recovering very nicely from his second cataract operation and has a lens fitted for his other eye which improves his vision ever so much over what it has been and is looking forward to soon having a lens fitted to the eye most recently operated on, which should make them better than new. Mrs. Lewis better watch him -- if his vision improves that much she may have to buy him a leash. Of course we are only kidding; Charlie, you know we are delighted that your problems are correctible. Also we are looking forward to seeing you at Louisville in October.

Well, I went down and bought a railroad ticket to Amarillo yesterday -- haven't quite figured out how to get our rabbits down there yet, but I'm sure we will work out something. The catalogs should be in the mail quite soon and I hope everyone else is as ready as we are. SEE YOU AT THE SHOW!
