SECRETARY'S CHIT CHAT

by J. Weinhardt

In spite of what we would all like to believe, winter is still with us. For those of us who had enough long before Christmas it is much, much too long. I almost envy those individuals who really like winter. We did manage to get out to one show this month. Same old story -- snowed in about Friday and plowed out just in time to make the show at Delphos, Ohio. I understand some of those with entries in were not so fortunate. They missed a good show. Although it was not quite as large, entry-wise as the one last year it was right up there in quality. I believe the Dutch was the largest entry and I had the pleasure of watching another one of our younger, newer judges work them over for the first time. It is not the first time Glen Carr has judged Dutch by any means, but just happens to be the first time I had seen him in action. By the way he found genuine disqualifications on my rabbits that other judges had overlooked I believe he is going to make a place for himself right up there with the best of them. I have been told that he has accepted the assignment of judging the Junior Department of our National Dutch show next month. I'm convinced that he is well qualified. In spite of my red face over disqualified rabbits we did pretty well at Delphos. I'm not going to give up until I find a Tortoise Buck that will beat that one of the Tan Club's new Secretary, Dave Leesburg! He has about the finest Tortoise senior buck I've seen. He says he is trying to raise a better one himself, but is not having much luck.

Speaking of new Secretaries -- for the benefit of those of our members who often serve as show secretaries I have the information that a new secretary has been appointed for the Polish Club. He is an old time Dutch breeder, Floyd R. Tobias; R# 3 - Box 102, Nazareth, Pa. 18064.

Had another bit of news from one of my favorite old time Dutch Breeders. Was talking to Vern Ashton at Delphos and he told me he was going into the hospital on Feb. 28 for a good going over. He is probably home by now (I surely hope so) but he might like to hear from his many friends anyway. The address is: 1626 Oakland Parkway, Lima, Ohio 45805.

I understand that the speed with which this Dutch Reporter is travelling about the country is becoming slower and slower. I think what the Post Office Department needs instead of "the more efficient system of ZIP numbers" (their words not mine) is some more efficient employees, with all due apologies to those good members of ours who receive their paychecks from the Postal Department. I doubt if any of you realize just how much extra work it took to get all of my address labels brought up to date with ZIP numbers by the Jan. 1, 1967 deadline. Then what happened? Dutch Reporters started coming back to my mail box with 8¢ postage due on them, stamped moved, left no address or with the address scratched off and an illegible new address scribbled on it. Right now I have copies belonging to three different members lying on my desk that I don't know where to send. When this happens I write a postcard to the last address I have and ask that it be forwarded and the member write back and straighten out the errors. I don't think I ever had so many Dutch Reporters come back as do every month now. I know everybody makes mistakes, but do they all have to do it at once?

I hear via the grape-vine that the Ohio State Dutch Rabbit Club is highly disappointed in the response to their request for ads and specials for the National Dutch Show which is almost upon us. Did you send yours in? It is probably too late for ads by now as the catalogs should be in the mail soon, but I'm sure any specials you might care to send would be most welcome. You may address them either to Don Weeks; R# 2, Leesburg, Ohio 45135 or to me. As many as possible will be listed in the April Dutch Reporter and all will be posted in the show room.

Have some pretty nice babies should be about ready for Wilmington, how about you?

NATIONAL DUTCH SHOW PUBLICITY

by "Mac" Thatcher

Just rec'd word from Barbara Walker that Glen Carr would judge the Youth Show. Glen is a young man who just rec's his judging license at the beginning of 1966. Prior to that time he has been a Cavy judge highly acceptable to the breeders of this area. Glen has judged seven rabbit shows this past year and the comment has all been good. One of those shows was the Youth Show at Columbus last September. The young people all like him.

One of the trade marks of this young man is his big smile, very similar to that of another Ohio judge whom you have all grown to like and admire and who has been very acceptable as a judge, not only of Dutch but in all breeds (and soon to be a Cavy Judge) and very much in demand. In the years to come I believe that the career of Glen Carr will parallel that of his friend, G. A. Burke.

The Ohio State Dutch Club is proud to have the services of this young man and we present him to you as one of the real good, new, young judges. Look him over.

MORE ABOUT TYPE

by Art Ammon

I have been meaning to write you for some time regarding your article in the September Dutch Reporter concerning Chocolate Dutch.

I certainly agree with you that all varieties of Dutch should have the same type as the Blacks and Blues, as you stated in your article.

There are some rather nice specimens of Chocolate Dutch bred here in California. My friend Robert Ellett, of Norco, California raises quite a few nice ones. I mention Mr. Ellett, as his show record with Chocolates readily backs up my statement. However from what I have observed the Tortoise, Steels and Grays are the poorest in type out here. Generally speaking the Torts just don't begin to compare with the Blacks and Blues. For the most part they seem to have longer heads or overly large ones and their bodies appear overly large in comparrison to the Blacks and Blues. This is also more or less true of quite a number of the Steels and Grays shown.

I am personally trying to breed some Torts that will conform to the fine Blacks and Blues that are being bred. This means of course that I must cross my better black or Blue bucks with the Tort does to come up with better typed Torts and then breed the Tort offspring until the desired type is fixed in the stock. Of course this cannot be accomplished overnight, but my progress so far is encouraging.

I happen to be the type of person that gets a greater pleasure out of breeding outstanding stock than in showing, although I do occasionally show and I am not disappointed in the results.

I also enjoy the letters received from other breeders that tell me of their wins with the stock I sold them.

I always promptly answer any letters of inquirey and include a pedigree at the time of shipment. I am happy to say that I never lack for buyers of my stock and get many repeat orders. I have an outlet for all my mis-marked or poorer quality rabbits. I only ship to breeders the better quality rabbits and price them according to their individual quality. I feel that any rabbit breeder that will be fair in their dealings will not have to worry about selling their stock.

The most important thing a breeder can do to produce fine stock of any kind is to buy the best that can be found. In the case of Dutch rabbits, I would look for type, color and markings. I would advise any new breeder to buy breeding stock that was as close to the Standard as possible. Type would be most important as a Dutch without type is not a good Dutch regardless of its color or markings, and regardless of whether it wins in a show or not. Color is very important, as good color contributes to the over-all appearance of the Dutch rabbit. Poor or faded color makes a very poor impression and remember, color is an inherited factor and good or bad, it is passed on to the next generation. Markings are essential to a Dutch rabbit, for without good markings a Dutch is nothing. I cannot agree with those breeders that use a poor marked speciman for breeding just because they came out of a pair of well marked Dutch parents, as the pattern of markings are not all inherited equally in a litter. It is my opinion based on a good many years of animal and bird breeding that one should only use good specimens for breeding to produce better or equal offspring. Naturally there are exceptions to this, but by and large like will produce like. In the case of show rabbits a large buck bred to a small doe or a small buck to a larger doe seems to work quite well, however all the rabbits should be within the Standard weights. The does need to by nice and typey just as the buck does, however by their very feminine nature, a doe is a little more fine in type. Any mean tempered stock should be eliminated, as temperment too, is an inherited factor, and certainly no one cares to work with ill tempered stock.

My own particular strain of Dutch rabbits is based on the fine Paradise strain of Judge Don Lovejoy and the real backbone of the herd is a very fine blue Grand Champion buck that I purchased from Don. He did not come cheap, but he has been worth all I paid for him and more, as he has the ability to produce outstanding young. I might mention that Blue is my favorite color.

Despite the fact that I attend only a few shows during the year, I have met and become friendly with a good many of the really fine rabbit breeders and I sincerely enjoy talking with them and corresponding with others, just as I enjoy reading the Dutch Reporter and some of the other fine rabbit magazines.

I have belonged to many breeders organizations through the years, but I must say, I enjoy the American Dutch Rabbit Club best of all and take pride in calling myself "The Lucky Dutchman".

MORE ABOUT STEELS

by S. M. Thatcher

I'd like to add some comments to Earl Hord's article on Steel Dutch (DR, Jan. '67). His article shows much comprehensive research on the subject and courage to tackle a subject which has needed clarifying for quite a while. I thoroughly agree with him on the three steps needed for improvement of this color.

I believe that the Blue-Gray must be recognized as a color, or perhaps a return of the A.O.C. (any other color) class to the Standard as the Blue Fawn is also needed by the Tortoise breeders to improve the color in that area. Removal of the A.O.C. class has hurt these two colors, Torts and Steels. Lots of us don't keep them if we can't show them and consequently the cross we need isn't available for the improvements that they would present to the major colors.

I also like Golden Fawns and Lilacs. I believe that these four colors would be acceptable in an A.O.C. class. It should not be necessary for promiscuous color mixing to make a place for those colors which would promote much better colors in other classes in the breed.

The Blue-Gray is also on the plus side in color breeding for the Grays. Let's hear what other breeders are thinking along these lines.
