PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Wenton Carlton

It is at last Spring time and the shows are in full swing. It's the best time of the year as you have a new show season starting and in most cases new rabbits to show. But it is also that time of year to start making plans for the National Dutch Show. As I said in my last letter, don't wait too long to make your travel reservations. The Michigan people are getting a great show together, so let's all support them and plan to attend this year's show.

It seems like it's time again to start thinking about elections this year. Those who are interested in running be sure to get started on your nomination petition. Just contact Norma and get a petition and have it signed. National Dutch show is a good place to get it done.

I have appointed Kevin Hooper to fill the opening for the Director's job for District 1. This appointment is subject to approval of the Board of Directors. The Board is voting and a decision should be known by the time this Dutch Reporter is printed.

I hope all officers are going to make the National Dutch Show. If anyone has anything they would like to bring up, write or call your Director or send me a letter or call me.

Hope each of you have a great time showing this Spring. See you at the National Dutch Show in Michigan. Hope everyone raises a Best in Show bunny.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Fred Mullinax

Hi Dutch Fans,

This is my first report as your new Vice-President. I hope all of you had a Happy New Year, and raise a lot of good Dutch for the National show in Michigan. Maybe someone from here in the South will come home a winner this year. Maybe Best of Breed or Best Opposite. That would be great since I don't think it has ever been done.

Shows here have come to a stand still, but hopefully they'll be going strong in the next few weeks. The shows here have really been up in numbers of Dutch being shown, and they are some fine looking animals. That's really great to see.

I hated for Kathy Abby and I to miss the National Convention in Pomona. We really missed seeing a lot of old friends, but hopefully we'll be seeing some of you at the National Dutch Show. We hope so anyway.

See all of you real soon. If you need anything just give me a call or drop me a note.

V-P Mullinax con't.

By the time some of you read this the National Dutch Show will be history, and I hope with a lot of you being winners. I hope all of you got to attend and had a great time.

Winter in the South was really mild this year. Although I heard there was a lot of bad weather up North. I hope all your bunnies survived.

We've had a lot of shows this winter with a lot of outstanding Dutch shown. It's gotten real hard for any one person to win B.O.B. and B.O.S. much less win in all six colors. I guess that means there must be a lot of nice rabbits.

Hope to see all of you real soon. Keep trying to raise that perfect Dutch.

P.S. - I also received a letter from Rhonda Dallison who is 14 years old. She is from Jacksonville, Florida and is a member of the American Dutch Rabbit Club. At the Florida State Convention on January 11th she won Best in Show in the Youth show with a nine week old blue Dutch doe. There was around 200 rabbits being shown. She also won Best of Breed with a black senior buck in show "B" against adult entries. I, as Vice-President of the ADRC, would like to congratulate Rhonda for her wins. Keep up the good work and I hope to see you at the National Show in Michigan.

Jack Pugh

Look out all you Dutch breeders! In my corner of District 1 there are some real winners. There have been 3 shows in a row, and a fourth next week. Dutch entries have been up, I'm happy to say.

Ken and Debbie Emerson, from New York, took best Dutch (with a Black Sr. Buck) in the two shows he attended. Their Blue Sr. Doe was Best Opposite. Two BEAUTIFUL animals.

At the Carroll County show, Warren McNamara took all four Chocolate classes.

How about some of you breeders raising Grays? I won Best Gray and Best Opposite. I need some competition.

Fellow Dutch breeders, I hope you all had a Merry Christmas and will have a Happy Dutch New Year. May you get lots and lots of bunnies in 1992. Could use a few myself also.

Have you made your plans for Saline, MI yet? Time will creep up on us and the NDS will be upon us before we know it. Should be a nice show and I also look for a lot of Youth.

Very sorry to hear about John Nelson. John and I go back a few years, plus. John always had a smile and was a master at fur. John, you will be missed.

I have rooms saved for the Convention in Columbus in November. Notice will appear elsewhere in your DR.

It's not too early to be thinking about the Convention either.

Well fellow breeders, let's make this a banner Dutch year and until down the road sometime, someplace, I remain for Dutch.

Glenn Morgan had an operation a while back, and I am sure would appreciate hearing from some of his Dutch friends. We hope he is ready for the National Dutch Show in Saline, MI.

Things are picking up in our area regarding the Dutch rabbit, due in part from the efforts of Floyd Dopler. Floyd is a real hustler, and is putting together several Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club specialty shows. It is enthusiasm like Floyd's that keep clubs going strong. Perhaps the rest of us will be able to get on the band wagon and get pumped up for some big entries.

The Illinois Dutch Rabbit Club is contemplating a bid for the National Dutch Show in the very near future. With the new building at the Illinois State Fairgrounds, the facilities are exceptional. We could easily house 3,000 Dutch. (Can you believe that?)

I cannot report on the local shows, as I have only judged in Illinois one weekend this year. I have seen some fine Dutch in other parts of the country though, and that is encouraging.

Hope to see you all in Saline for the 1992 NDS.

DISTRICT 2

Myrl Milhahn

Since Michigan will host the 1992 National Dutch Show, I'd like to bring you up to date on Michigan N.D. Shows.

Perhaps many of you didn't know that Michigan hosted the first seven National Dutch Shows. They were held at the Michigan State Fairgrounds. The last one was held in 1969 in Ludington, MI.

This year, 1992 it will be held in Saline, MI. It will make a total of 9 National Dutch Shows. I believe that's a pretty good record.

The Michigan Dutch Rabbit Club members are hard at work getting this year's show ready. We hope it will be the biggest and best ever.

The motel and banquet will be near each other, four miles from the Fairgrounds and 18 minutes from Detroit Metropolitan Airport to the Fairgrounds.

ROOMS FOR COLUMBUS

I have 40 rooms blocked at the Howard Johnson Lodge at I-71 North and Grandville Road for the 1992 ARBA National Convention in Columbus, OH on November 2-5.

It is very easy on and off access to I-71 and just 6 miles from the showroom. There is a Bob Evans restaurant across the street, along with plenty of eating places along I-71.

All rooms are on the first floor, there is an indoor pool, and the rooms are nice. I have stayed there for the last two years during the Ohio State Convention.

There is a flat rate of $45.00 + tax (15.75%) per room.

FROM THE EDITOR

If anyone received a copy of the January-February 1992 Dutch Reporter, save it. You have a real collector's item, as there was not an issue mailed for those months!

Several things came up, and I did not get the Jan-Feb issue put together in time to be printed and mailed. Rather than publish it extremely late, then have this issue late also, I decided to combine the two and get back on schedule.

This situation created some thoughts in my mind that I believe the Board should consider.

This issue will be slightly larger due to double show reports, some additional articles, and the membership list. However, it is not all that much larger than a normal issue. This makes me believe that the DR could be published quarterly instead of bi-monthly. This could save the club in excess of $ 1,000.00 per year, having 4 issues instead of 6.

A little background of the publishing of the Dutch Reporter for those of you not totally familiar with it....

At the 1989 National Dutch Show, the Board had to find a new editor due to the resignation of our previous one. As there was no line of volunteers knocking down the door of the Board meeting, I volunteered to publish the DR. At that time, it was extremely costly to put the Dutch Reporter out, and the club was suffering a little financially. I volunteered to publish the DR at no cost, other than printing and postage, until the club was financially sound again. The first issue I mailed was the May-June 1989 issue. Since that time, I have received no pay for publishing the DR. At times, it has been late, and unfortunately the last issue never got published. Trying to work the set-up, typing, delivery to the printer, etc. into my schedule just could not be done during the months of January and February. You have my humble apologies, but it was unavoidable. If the DR was published quarterly instead of bi-monthly, I would have some extra time to perform the duties. I would however, be glad to relinquish the rights to publish the DR to anyone that might want the job. Just contact Wenton, myself, or any of the other Directors or Officers and make the offer. I would assume your payment would be the same as mine, the privilege of fielding phone calls asking why it's late, if it has been mailed yet, why my points aren't correct, etc. You do, however, get to talk to some of the people you wouldn't normally during the course of a year.

Again, I am very sorry for the January-February issue not getting published, but you didn't miss out on anything. All that I had for that issue is contained in this one. You are just receiving it rather late.

If anyone has questions regarding the Dutch Reporter, please contact me, not the Secretary, She is not responsible for this publication, and has no control over when it is published.

Everyone will receive credit for an extra issue on any ads that are paid for, and first class postage.

From the desk of the Secretary.....

This issue contains the current ADRC membership list. If you don't find your name there or if your membership isn't updated, it just means that it was not received before printing. This will enable you to find out who else in your area is raising and showing Dutch. If you see someone regularly at a show, and they're not listed, you might want to try and recruit them. You certainly can't beat the Dutch!

I've had some phone calls with regard to the Dutch Reporter. Most of them just wanted to be certain that they didn't miss their issue and had no problem with it's delay. Please note that the DR is not printed from this office. (thank heaven) and I get to read my issue when you do. You won't hear me complain about any delay...I used to publish it and I realize the amount of time and work that's involved! Many aren't aware that our editor has been publishing the DR, without any pay, until we could find someone else. This was about three years ago and he has been printing it ever since! The DR requires alot of time and work and is certainly quite a task. If you would like to take on this responsibility, with no compensation other than a thank you, please contact this office or any Board member. Until that time, I wish to offer my appreciation and sincere thanks to our editor.

The 1992 National Dutch Show is just about upon us. This promises to be a great show. Entry deadline is APRIL 20, 1992. Your open entry must be submitted to Jane Burt 980 W Five Point Hwy Charlotte, Mi 48813. Youth entries are to be sent to Amy Minter 7405 Calkins Rd Flint, Mi 48532. Entry Fees, Open & Youth - $3.50. Fur is day of show entry @ $3.50. There will be no late entries accepted! If you're planning on attending the banquet, please submit your reservation along with your entry. Adults, 'All You Can Eat Buffet', $15.00 - Youth (under 14), $7.50. I hope to see all of you there. Good luck on the show tables and may the Best In Show be yours!

"Preventive Maintenance For Your Herd"

This is a time when things are pretty slow on the show schedule. There are not a lot of shows in this area in January and February, however they will be starting up again in the first part of March. So now is a good time to be thinking of giving your breeding herd some "preventive maintenance. You take your car in periodically to get it taken care of and so your breeding stock requires similar treatment.

During the show season, you spent a lot of time, perhaps two to three times a week grooming and getting your show rabbits into condition, but how much time do you spend attending to your breeding stock? Many times the only time that you really handle the breeding doe much is when you take her out of the cage to breed to the buck. This is an excellent time to do some "preventive maintenance". This can insure that the doe will be in top condition healthwise. The following are some things that we do each time a doe is bred.

1. Trim the toenails of the doe. I prefer to use a sidecutters, however regular pet nail clippers work fine too. When you trim the toenails, try to cut only the white or colored part of the toenail and avoid cutting into the pink part of the toenail. Do not become alarmed if you draw blood, as it will heal quickly. By trimming the toenails, this will help in reducing the amount of torn toenails that occur from getting caught in cage wire. It will also prevent some of the babies in the litter from getting cut or scarred by the mother's sharp toe nails when she is jumping into the next box.
2. Put several drops of mineral oil in each ear of the doe. Do this even though you may not have a problem with ear mites. You never know when you will bring the problem home from the show room. So it is a good precaution and good "preventive maintenance". By putting oil in the rabbits ear, you cut off the oxygen supply to the mite in the ear and they die. I would not suggest doing this to your show rabbits close to the show, as it leaves an oily appearance around the base of the ears.
3. Worm your rabbits by using a paste wormer for horses. Put a small amount on your finger tip and rub it on the rabbits lower lip. She will quickly lick it off and swallow the wormer. This is fine for worming one rabbit, however if you want to do your whole herd it would be best advised to use a liquid wormer in the water supply such as piperazine.
4. Now that you have the doe bred do not forget to record the date of breeding and also record the buck that she was bred to. It would also be helpful, if you have a calendar in your rabbitry to count ahead 31 days and indicate the day the doe is to kindle.

Good luck raising some litters this spring!

Dear Friends:

I hope this finds you all healthy and looking forward to a very progressive 1992. Late last year, I took the liberty of contacting Bobby Schott as it relates to the definition of Grey and Steel color. Judge Schott has worked genetically on these colors in the Netherland Dwarf probably more than any other individual. I though possibly the information she provided could be valuable in the Dutch Club's pursuit of a more correct and explicit description of the two colors in the forth coming standard description for these two varieties of Dutch. Enclosed, you will find a copy of her letter for your information and understanding.

I believe what she is describing to us is possibly what we are attempting to breed is genetically impossible to do consistently, due to the laws of genetics. Possibly, if we wish to improve and have a consistent Grey and Steel color, we need to alter our description to some degree. I hope you find this of value and would appreciate any type of input or comments.

Sincerely,

Dr. K. E. Reed

Dear Dr. Reed,

I apologize for taking so long to respond to your letter of November 29th. At long last, Frank and I have been selected for an 8-year-old girl and 10-year-old boy. So, next time we meet up, and you ask "What does it feel like to be a Mom?" - I may have some sort of answer. I'm fixing to be very busy this coming year, getting these kids settled into a new house, family, and school (and teaching them how to use a wire brush on the rabbit cage floors!).

I usually dispense color genetics information with gay abandon, regardless of breed, since the color genes work the same on all breeds. However, in the case of Dutch, I have a suspicion that there may be a dominant black allele that is missing or very rare in other breeds. It may even be rare in Dutch. The presence of a dominant black allele, if it does exist, would make Black Dutch exceptionally black (and a Blue Dutch decidedly blue). It would also be dominant to the Steel E^s allele and mask Steel ticking in Dutch rabbits, causing the inheritance of Steel coloration in Dutch seem different than in other breeds not having a dominant black allele in the gene pool. Hence the popular notion that Steel Dutch are produced by crossing Blues with Grays. (This will work in the peculiar genotype of some herds, but not in others.)

After having examined most of the Dutch at the Tulsa National Convention several years ago, I was struck by how differently the Gray Dutch are patterned, compared to other "wild color" agoutis. The Dutch fanciers had bred the intermediary yellow band off most of their animals, or at least reduced the width of that intermediary yellow band considerably. In effect, they had a breeder-selected the intermediary yellow band off their Grays, leaving a genetically agouti rabbit without three bands on the hair shaft. I am not positive I could separate all the Gray Dutch from the Steel Dutch without examining the belly (which is white-surfaced in Grays and colored-surfaced in Steels). Even here, the Gray Dutch color description gives an allowance for belly color by stating, "When the belly surface color is white, the undercut is determined by blowing into the fur." Although some wild color agoutis will show a creamy belly surface, such shade never approaches that of the gray-bellied Steel. I have never had a judge so much as remark on any of my Chestnuts showing a cream belly surface, although our Chestnut color description requires white - so this little 'haze of color' at the belly surface is subtle enough not to ring any alarm bells when it does occur. As far as I can determine, the rare 'haze' on the belly of some Chestnut Dwarfs must be due to some polygenes and has nothing to do with the major color genotype. I mark such cases up to nothing more than an interesting individual variation.

The only two color alleles we know of that colors an otherwise white belly are the Steel E^s allele and a pair of Wide Band w alleles. Consequently, I use belly color of tan-patterned and agouti-patterned specimens to determine the presence of the Steel allele. Although both Steel and Wide Band color the belly, they do so in different ways. Additionally, the Wide Band alleles alter the shade of color of the intermediary band, whereas the Steel allele narrows the band without affecting the color.

No wonder the Steel Dutch are seldom found to carry that tell-tale narrow yellow banding on the lower rump that gives Dwarf fanciers so much trouble! Nor are the Steel Dutch much troubled with "brassiness". There is practically no yellow band in the Grays for the Steel allele to cover. In all truth, I did find every Steel Dutch to carry a combination of pale yellow and silvery white ticking - but the preponderance of black in the surface made the overview look a lot less "brassy" than, say, a Chestnut Steel Dwarf. Overall, there was less ticking in the Steel Dutch due to only the last half of the rabbit being colored (and that being the end that carries a bit less ticking anyhow).

Insofar as I can see, the fault for Gray Dutch showing a "brassy tinge" is contrary to the genotype that creates Grays in the first place. Although the word "brassy" is not defined in the Glossary, I assume we are talking 'yellow' here. And a fault against brassiness may be responsible for the Gray Dutch breeders having bred against the intermediary yellow band. I guess this "brassy" business is some kind of legacy from the Sandy Flemish, who seem to want a creamier rather than oranger intermediary band. Apparently, people latched on to this fault for "brassiness" in Sandy Flemish by reasoning that "brassy" was a color fault in other breeds as well. In fact, the term "brassy" has become a dirty word in the rabbit fancy. When, in fact, it is an inevitable, necessary, and even required feature in practically all breeds recognizing a wild color agouti.

In the Gray Dutch color description, in one place it calls for a 'medium tan' intermediary band and 'tan' tipping. Which is just a more apt term for what I call 'yellow'. Later, Gray Dutch are faulted for "brassy tinge"! No wonder the Dutch breeders don't know what to do! This fault for brassiness is carried over into the Steel Dutch color description - suggesting that perhaps only Black Steel Dutch are to be exhibited. Actually, the ticking is much more generous and even on Gray Steels than on Black Steels (who have a tendency to tick only on the laterals). The gaudier-ticked Gray Steels are just as attractive as the more conservatively-ticked Black Steels - once you break out of the dirty word "brassy" mold and recognize that yellow is not, of itself, a bad color for a rabbit to be. Naturally, too much of a good thing is a bad thing. Gray Dutch that are too 'yellow', lack enough black in the surface color and end up looking washed-out and drab. Gray Dutch that are too 'black', lack the balance between black and yellow in the surface color and appear too dark. Rule of thumb on the mix of black to yellow in the surface: at least 2/3 black and 1/3 yellow gives a handsome contrast. I have never seen one 'too black' to suit me. The more jet black at the surface, the more vivid the specimen appears. Some specimens develop a grayish surface color - but this fault is in the shade of yellow fading to a nondescript silver tone rather than the preponderance of black ticking and tipping in the coat.

Actually, the underside of the Gray Dutch's tail is white to the skin, rather than being the same as the belly color (which is white over slate blue). As color descriptions are now written, all wild color agoutis should be disqualified from the judging table for lacking undercolor on the tail underside. It is not breeder-selectable to get an undercolor on the undertail of any agouti-patterned variety. Apparently, I am the only one who ever checked to see if there was an undercolor on the tail underside. (Agouti-patterns are white to the skin around the vent area as well, in case you get to checking for yourself.)

Well - I don't know that these random thoughts will be of any help to you or whether I have merely muddied the waters further. I wrote what I consider the all-time best color description for wild color agouti for the Chestnut Netherland Dwarf - taking into account those factors that are inherent to the variety as well as those factors that are amenable to breeder-selections. A group of us Steel Dwarf fanciers also wrote the definitive color description for Steels, actually describing the color of the fur and mentioning that it is a ticked variety! That description allows for Chestnut Steels, Chinchilla Steels, and Black Steels (but no others) to be exhibited in the same classes. Actually, the amount of ticking among these Steels varies much more than the shade of ticking (which ranges only from off-white to yellow). Most judges are non-plussed upon their first experience with both Chestnut Steels and Black Steels appearing in the same class. But, after a time or two, they seem to recover their aplomb and do a good job finding the best typed Steel Dwarf and even making an occasional pertinent comment about the color. After all, they judge the Black, Blue, Chocolate, and Lilac Otters, Tans, Silver Martens, and Himalayans together, without thinking anything of it.

Those proposed color descriptions published in the March 1989 Dwarf Digest remain my best effort in describing ideal Chestnut and Steel color. And I believe it to be just as applicable for Gray and Steel Dutch. The only consideration would be the difference in fur structure between Dwarfs and Dutch. The Dwarf has a softer-textured coat that often shows a substantially-different length between secondary and guard hairs. Whereas the Dutch has more primary guard hairs in the coat (conforms more closely to normal commercial fur type) and has less variation in length between primary and secondary guard hairs (probably breeder-selected this way to preclude the markings looking blurry) and a shorter overall length to the coat (handy when breeding a marked rabbit).

In closing, since Lesley Haynie has restricted her varieties to Gray and Steel Dutch (and has been raising Chestnut and Steel Dwarfs with me since 1985), she is pretty well versed in these colors. As a long-time Dutch breeder-exhibitor, she has the hands-on experience that I, as a casual Dutch 'keeper', do not. If you can out last her self-deprecation, Lesley is easily capable of recognizing which viewpoints balance with reality and which are products of la-la land. Although I don't know a Dutch from a belted groundhog, there are moments when I think I will someday understand color. In that very narrow slice of rabbit husbandry, I may be of some use. If so, please do not hesitate to call on me.

Happy Dutch - ing,

Bobby

MICHIGAN DUTCH RABBIT CLUB

American Dutch Rabbit Club
Dick Gehr, Editor Dutch Reporter

Dear Dick,

Would like to congratulate all those Dutch breeders that attended the ARBA Convention. We all know the Dutch is America's finest show rabbit and the Dutch breeders are second to none either.

Looking ahead to NDS 1992, we members of the Michigan Dutch Club are excited to be sponsors of this years show. We are hoping for a very large turnout.

The raffle is always an important part of any show. Those members who are unable to SAY YES TO MICHIGAN in 1992 still have an opportunity to contribute. Any donations can be sent to: Ray & Kathy Seguin, 10590 Steffas Rd., Maybee, MI 48159. For those planning to attend, please bring your donations to the raffle booth when you arrive at the showroom. Large or small, we'll take them all!

Although we have been raising dutch for only 4 years, we have made many friends traveling to the shows. Dutch breeders are in a class all by themselves. Always willing to share their knowledge with others for the good of the breed. We are proud to be a part of this organization.

Hope to see you all May 8,9,10 in Saline, Michigan. Again, Thank You for any donation you wish to make. Remember our Michigan Motto: If it ain't Dutch, it ain't much!

Ray & Kathy Seguin

There were a few show reports in the last two issues that showed Robert Siphema as a non-member. This was incorrect. He had won Best Chocolate several times.

1992 ARBA Convention
News
by Kevin Hooper

Much planning is underway to ensure that you have a great time at the 1992 ARBA Convention in Columbus, Ohio, November 2-5, 1992.

Our headquarters motel is the Howard Johnson's Lodge just off of I-71 at S.R. 161 seven miles from the showroom. This is at a different exit than the motel for the 1986 Convention. It has easy access to and from the freeway and has an indoor pool. The cost is $45.00 per night plus tax for up to 4 people. See Jack Wireman's article elsewhere in this issue for more details.

The hotel is on the same road as about twenty restaurants and numerous shopping areas. More details on this will be printed in the next issue.

If you have any questions about the Convention, please let me know.
